

Groppi Jailed, Capitol May Return to Normal

Assembly Votes to Hold Milwaukee Priest in Contempt

By ARTHUR L. SRB
Associated Press Writer
MADISON (AP)—Legislators agreed to make another effort to conduct business today after deliberating whether to recess in the face of rowdy welfare demonstrations that turned the Wisconsin Capitol into an armed camp.

Assemblymen, whose chambers were clogged Monday by 2,000 protesters, adopted a contempt citation Wednesday against the Rev. James E.

Groppi, ordering the civil rights leader jailed for his role in demonstrations.

The Assembly's Republican majority conferred with senators before turning down a motion to recess until next week.

"We ought to adjourn or recess," Sen. Walter J. Hollander said. "We can only get in one side of the building. This is getting to be crazy."

About 400 Groppi supporters continued to rally Wednesday night outside the Capitol after Groppi was taken into custody.

end of the session, or for six months, whichever was shortest.

Forty-eight Republicans voted for the contempt resolution, and four did not vote. Of the Assembly's 47 Democrats, 23 endorsed the resolution.

It was approved after more than three and a half hours of debate. Records indicate the statute was used in 1937 against an assemblyman, but was not successfully invoked.

A copy of the Assembly's resolution was delivered promptly to the Dane County sheriff's office.

A spokesman for the state attorney general's office said the citation takes precedence over other charges, even though Groppi's attorneys were reported preparing a court challenge to the obscure statute's constitutionality.

Sponsors of the resolution said the citation automatically jails Groppi under the legislature's contempt powers.

Assemblyman Stanley York, R-River Falls, a Methodist clergyman, said Groppi was guilty of the "most terrible crime in a civilized country—the obstruction of legitimate government."

"We simply cannot pass off the responsibility to the courts or to some other agency," York said. "I feel every

'War of Nerves' Charged Germans Tie Last Strings For Coalition Government

BOON, Germany (AP)—Only "loose strings" remain to be tied up before the Social Democrats and Free Democrats agree to form a coalition government in West Germany, a spokesman for the negotiating parties said today.

Another negotiator accused the Christian Democrats, whose 20-year domination of West German politics would be ended by such a coalition, of launching "a war of nerves" to prevent it.

The spokesman, Heinz Kuehn of the Social Democrats' presidential campaign, said talks between his party and the Free Democrats today would deal with allocating prospective cabinet posts. The two parties plan to cut the number of portfolios from the present 19 to 15 or less.

Kuehn said the parties would submit their proposed government program to their parliamentary groups for approval Friday—12 days earlier than expected—and the new coalition might be announced that day.

After five hours of talks Wednesday, Kuehn told newsmen: "We have achieved a measure of agreement so good no one would have thought it possible when the talks began."

We only have some loose strings to tie up and everything is perfect."

Willy Weyer, the Free Democratic interior minister of North Rhine-Westphalia who participated in the talks, said the Christian Democrats were waging "a war of nerves" and predicted this would escalate in the next few days.

This was a reference to a news conference statement by Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger that his Christian Democratic party had made "broad policy proposals" to the Free Democrats and expected to talk with them after their negotiations with the Social Democrats.

A coalition between the Social Democrats (SPD) and Free Democrats (FDP) would make Foreign Minister Willy Brandt the first Social Democratic chancellor since Herman Muller in 1929-30.

The negotiations are led by Brandt and FDP chief Walter Scheel.

Together the SPD and FDP would command a 12-seat majority over the Christian Democrats in the 496-seat Bundestag, West Germany's parliament.

The present coalition government of Christian Democrats and Social Democrats expires at midnight, Oct. 19.

There has been some resistance to an SPD-FDP coalition from the Free Democrats' conservative wing, but indications are the conservatives will obey a party majority.

Erich Mende, former chairman of the Free Democratic party, said in an interview with the daily Bild Zeitung he favors a three-party coalition including the Christian Democrats, with new elections scheduled after two years instead of the usual four.

Mende also said he would oppose Brandt's candidacy for chancellor, but said he would obey party discipline.

Places Blame

MADISON (AP)—The Rev. James E. Groppi, before he was arrested Wednesday by the Dane County sheriff, sought sanctuary in a Madison Roman Catholic Church.

"I'm going to take sanctuary," Groppi said. "I'm going to ask God for sanctuary. He got me into this at a church. They said they did not intend to abandon their demands for restoration of welfare funds which legislators eliminated from the 1969-71 budget.

Groppi, 38, had led Milwaukee welfare recipients on a 90-mile march to Madison. His group of about 100 protesters was joined by hundreds of University of Wisconsin students for three days of challenges to National Guardsmen surrounding the Capitol.

The Assembly, angry over an estimated $26,000 in damage to carpets and furniture, voted 71-24 to have Groppi jailed under an 1848 contempt statute.

Opponents of the resolution called it unconstitutional, saying the legislature had never before approved such action.

However, Groppi was already in jail on a Dane County charge of disorderly conduct.

He declined to post $50 bond after learning he could be jailed again under a Milwaukee County warrant. The Milwaukee warrants charged violation of probation terms involved in a 1968 open housing demonstration conviction.

Irate legislators occupied themselves with speeches about the demonstrations, and did not get down to reviewing requests for $33 million in programs, including welfare funds and anti-poverty projects for Milwaukee.

Under the contempt statute, Groppi could be jailed until the

95 Americans Die in Week Viet Toll Lowest in 2 Years

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—The lowest weekly combat toll among Americans in two years was announced today by the U.S. Command, reflecting a three-week lull on the battlefield.

An official summary said 95 Americans were killed in action during the seven-day period ending at midnight last Saturday—a drop from 135 the previous week and the lowest weekly toll since the week ending Aug. 12, 1967, when 82 Americans died.

While the American death toll decreased, South Vietnamese troop casualties rose from 297 to 308 last week. Since the week ending May 10, South Vietnamese casualties have been consistently higher than American combat deaths, which many officials say is a result of "Vietnamizing" the war.

Deaths Declined

The number of Americans wounded last week also went up to 1,315 from 1,114 the previous week, and South Vietnamese wounded from 883 to 896. The number of enemy killed declined to 2,332 from a revised total of 2,696 the previous week.

The U.S. Command said 38,823

Americans have been killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, with 556,629 enemy claimed killed in the same period.

Last week's low casualty count was coupled with U.S. intelligence reports that elements of four North Vietnamese divisions in the area around Saigon had pulled back along the Cambodian border farther than at any time since early 1968.

But a spokesman for the U.S. Command said he saw no immediate political significance in the latest developments.

"They are posing a threat to the outlying areas," he said, "but they are not posing a great threat to Saigon. Everything (the enemy) says indicates he plans a continuation of campaigns punctuated by high points, along the lines of protracted combat."

"What we anticipate is a low level of activity punctuated by high points. We anticipate he will not jump off any large scale offensive in the near future. He has not taken the position yet of a sustained type offensive."

Despite the low level of enemy activity, the U.S. Command spokesman said American B52 bombers are keeping up their heavy raids along the border north of Saigon.

"In the areas the B52s are hitting," he said, "the enemy is carrying on actions preparatory to jumping off on a campaign. He is moving in supplies, building his forces, gathering his forces. He doesn't gather his forces unless he is planning something."

GOP Plan to Cool Criticism Of War Policy Stirrs Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican bid for a moratorium on Vietnam policy dissent in Congress has stirred new argument about President Nixon's course—but GOP leaders still insist there should be a letup in criticism.

"It's just a question of making a case for the importance of supporting the President, particularly at this time," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the Republican whip, pointing to the change of government in North Vietnam.

Senate Democrats have rejected such pleas, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota planned to speak out today in support of student plans for campus war protests Oct. 15.

While Democrats and Republicans are locked in bitter debate in the Senate, the issue also is simmering in the House.

Going Ahead

Five House Republicans said today they would go ahead with plans to seek a Dec. 30, 1970, expiration date for the Gulf of Tonkin resolution that authorized military intervention in Vietnam.

Reps. Donald W. Riegle of Michigan, Pete McCloskey of California, Gilbert Gude of Maryland, Charles A. Mosher of Ohio and Daniel Button of New York sent out a letter bidding for support from other House members. They denied their proposal undercut President Nixon's policy on Vietnam.

But Democratic Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher of New Jersey lashed out strongly at proposals to set a deadline for withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. Gallagher said in a speech prepared for House delivery today that proposed resolutions setting a deadline "might force the hand of our President—leaving him with the alternatives in the field of a Dunkerque or a Bien Phu."

He suggested that in trying to get the troops home the President might be forced to turn to "even nuclear war, just as long as he meets the resolution deadline."

Senate debate on Vietnam flared in the wake of a proposal by Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., for a Dec. 1, 1970, deadline on U.S. withdrawal. Republican leaders responded by calling for a moratorium on such proposals and dissent.

But war critics, particularly Democrats who parted company with former President Lyndon B. Johnson over Vietnam were not swayed by the GOP leaders—and this resulted in a bitter debate Wednesday.

"As a Democrat who opposed the policy of my own President when Mr. Johnson was in the White House, I certainly don't intend to lie down now that Mr. Nixon is in the White House," said Sen. Frank Church of Idaho.

Sen. John William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Nixon has made only token gestures toward disengagement in Vietnam.

"It's no token to those 60,000

Artificial Arm Made to Feel

LONDON (AP)—Scientists have produced an artificial arm which can duplicate all natural movements and has a sense of touch, the Times of London reported today. A research team attached to Edinburgh University in Scotland, led by Prof. David Simpson, took two years to develop the device. Eleven children suffering deformities from thalidomide have been taught to use simple types of the arm at the Princess Margaret Rose Hospital, the newspaper reported.

The Times said movement of the arm is controlled by tiny valves which operate on jets of air driving gas motors.

Children operate it by shrugging their shoulders.

The sense of touch comes from a small vibrating reed in the plastic finger tips. When objects are touched a sound is transmitted to a hearing aid behind the ear, the paper said.

"The noise level is quite small, but different materials produce distinctive frequencies," the time said.

"Metallic objects have a harsh, high-pitched, scratchy sound, sandpaper produces the sort of noise one might expect from rubbing fingers over the rough surface and the touch on a person's cheek has a softer and gentler sound."

Hanoi Told to Deal Directly With Saigon

PARIS (AP) — The United States and its Saigon ally challenged Hanoi and the Viet Cong today to make good their demand for South Vietnamese self-determination by talking directly to the Saigon government about the country's future.

South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam repeated his government's July 11 offer to hold new elections with Viet Cong participation, saying it would allow "the South Vietnamese people fully to express their aspirations."

Addressing the Communist side at the 36th plenary session of the Vietnam peace talks, Lam declared: "If you respect the right of self-determination of the South Vietnamese people, you must discuss seriously matters concerning the destiny of the South Vietnamese people, Vietnamese National Liberation Front."

The Saigon regime, he said, "is the legitimate representative of the South Vietnamese people."

Since the peace talks began last January, Hanoi and its Viet Cong ally have described the Saigon regime as a U.S. puppet and a traitor to South Vietnam.

North Vietnamese Ambassador Ha Van Lau replied by accusing the allies of paying lip service to the principle of self-determination.

The allies, he said, "still categorically oppose genuinely free and democratic general elections organized by a fairly and appropriately set up provisional coalition government, as has been proposed by the South Vietnamese people."

Lam described as a trick President Nixon's order to withdraw 60,000 U.S. troops before the end of the year. He said the United States intends to prolong the war with this "maneuver" and that a settlement can come only from an unconditional U.S. pullout and the withdrawal of American backing of the Saigon regime.

"Most Unreasonable"

"The Nixon administration still persistently demands a mutual withdrawal, a most unreasonable demand that everybody demands of us," Lau said.

Lam also insisted on the long standing allied demand for complete withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia as U.S. forces are removed from the theater of war.

Lam also appealed to North Vietnam and the Viet Cong-proclaimed Provisional Revolutionary Government to seek independence from foreign Communist powers.

"If you do not consider your struggle as part and parcel of the revolution of the international proletariat, then it will not be impossible to reach agreement, putting an end to the war," he said.

"The more you persist in prolonging the war, the more you subject yourself to the Communist powers and the further you detach yourself from the Vietnamese people."

Rapped by Lodge

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge accused the Communists of refusing "to deal in any kind of meaningful way with the elected government of the Republic of Vietnam."

"You have agreed that the government of the Republic of Vietnam should be seated at this table. Yet except for speeches which are made here, you refuse to meet and you refuse to deal with that government," he said.

"There must be few, if any, precedents in history for such an attitude."

Lodge said impartial observers "would surely characterize your refusal as completely inconsistent with sincere negotiations."

He recalled President Nixon's Sept. 26 news conference at which he said the "one thing that is not negotiable at the conference table is the right of the people of South Vietnam to choose their own leaders without outside imposition, either by us or by anybody else."

Lodge said the allies were ready for "meaningful negotiations" and had put forth what he called a set of reasonable proposals.

"As President Nixon said on last Sept. 26:

"'Now is the time for Hanoi to make the next move,'" Lodge declared.

Controversy Rises Over Rights Policy

By WILLIAM BARTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The forced resignation of a dissident Justice Department lawyer has added fuel to controversy swirling around the Nixon administration's civil rights policies.

Gary J. Greenberg, 27, senior trial attorney in the civil rights division's appeals and research section stepped down Wednesday after leading 65 of 74 staff lawyers in a public protest against the government's school desegregation stand.

Greenberg resigned at the request of Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, his division chief, who claimed only Monday there would be no retractions against attorneys who disagreed with him.

Leonard Resignation

Even as Greenberg began vacating his office, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, suggested Leonard himself should step down. The possibility also was raised that other unhappy department lawyers might quit in protest over Greenberg's resignation.

Young accused Leonard of having a "cynical, callous attitude toward civil rights problems" because of the Justice official's declaration that "nothing would change" if the Supreme Court orders "instant integration."

Leonard made the statement at a news conference at which he insisted the administration's desegregation decisions were sound despite the lawyers' charge that the department was violating "clearly defined legal mandates."

"Sixty-five lawyers are wrong, I guess," Leonard said, because I think I have set out what the civil rights enforcement policy of this division is going to be."

Singled Out

Leonard would not explain why Greenberg was singled out when 90 per cent of his division had joined in the protest against himself, President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

But the young lawyer, a 1968 Harvard law school graduate who joined the division in 1967, had angered Leonard Sept. 10 when he told the U.S. 8th Circuit of Appeals in St. Louis he disagreed with a desegregation decision granted 33 Mississippi school districts.

At that time, Greenberg was arguing that an Arkansas district should not be given more time to integrate. The judges asked him why then the Arkansas school system should not get a postponement when the government had proposed more time in Mississippi.

Leonard, responding to a protest statement from his dissenting attorneys, told them he would not be embarrassed by asking for court-ordered postponement of desegregation in future cases.

This policy was branded a major retreat by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, but Mitchell and Leonard said their critics did not know the facts in the various cases.

man has a right to due process of law, and to be heard."

"To allow less is to sink to the level of an anarchist or revolutionary. But the purpose of a trial is to determine whether a man did what he is said to have done, and we already know that," he added.

Assemblyman Byron Wackelt, R-Watertown, said the problem is not confined to jailing Gropi, but "preserving representative government in the United States."

"Never in the history of the United States have we been in greater danger of losing what we have in Wisconsin than today," Wackelt said.

He blamed current troubles on "subversives and conspiratorial groups."

Opponents of the measure said it deprives Gropi of due process, and was unconstitutional.

"If your purpose is to put Gropi in jail, Dane County beat you to it," Assemblyman Frank Nikolay, D-Abbotsford, said. "If it's anything else, it's just plain inflammatory."

Attorneys for Gropi filed a petition in federal court today, asking that the priest be freed and that the portion of the state Constitution under which he was jailed be declared unconstitutional.

The petition also asked that a three-judge court be convened to hear the matter.

Federal Judge James E. Doyle scheduled a hearing for Friday morning.

"The petition said that Gropi is being made a slave and involuntary servant of the state without being duly convicted of a crime."

It said the Assembly's action denied Gropi freedom of speech, press, assembly and association.

Retirement Rumors Denied

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — White House sources say FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, dinner party

Hoover Likely to Stay at FBI Post

host to President Nixon Wednesday night, has given no indication he will retire on his 75th birthday Jan. 1.

They say they know nothing to support renewed widespread speculation Hoover was contemplating stepping down in the near future.

The possibility of Hoover's retirement has cropped up from time to time ever since 1965 when former President Lyndon B. Johnson waived the mandatory federal retirement age of 70 for the FBI director. President Nixon continued the waiver.

During the recent controversy over who authorized an FBI wiretap of the late Dr. Martin Luther King's telephone in the early 1960's, former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark suggested Hoover's usefulness had come to an end.

"I think, perhaps, the time has come when he should retire, both in the interests of his own career, which has been distinguished and in the interests of the FBI, which has been a great investigative agency," Clark said.

In an interview with the Associated Press last May, however, Hoover said he has no intention of retiring.

"As long as God grants me the health and the stamina to continue I have no ambition other than to remain in my post as director of the FBI," Hoover said.

The short, bulldog-faced Hoover has headed the FBI since President Calvin Coolidge named him to the post in 1924.

Long a symbol of law and order, Hoover enjoys the respect of Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

No Magic

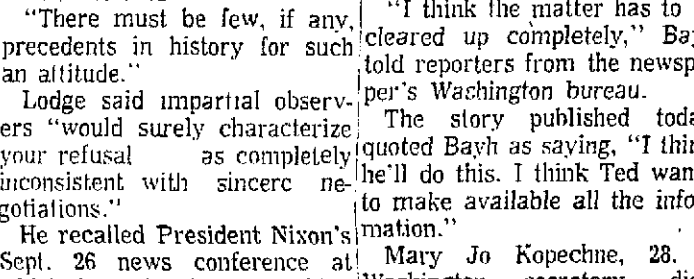

Neither Nixon nor Mitchell have given any sign that age 75 represents a magic number to be translated into automatic retirement for Hoover. On the contrary, perhaps because of concern about fulfilling a 1968 Nixon campaign pledge to counter crime, they seemed pleased that Hoover continues to direct the FBI.

Hoover was the first holover federal official that Nixon, as President-elect said he would retain.

The FBI chief was one of the first government officeholders invited to join the President for an overnight stay last spring, at the chief executive's Camp David retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

Wednesday night, Hoover became the first government official of any rank to be visited in his home by the chief executive.

U. S. Denies Starting Investigation On Censorship of News to Troops

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command denied today it is investigating charges that the Armed Forces Radio and Television network is censoring war news for American troops in Vietnam.

The command said a cable to an Ohio congressman meant it was making a "comprehensive review" of the situation of a soldier formerly on the network's news staff, not of the soldier's censorship charge.

Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, said Wednesday in Washington the cable was a reply to his query about Spec. 5 Michael Maxwell of Columbus, Ohio, who asked to be transferred from the network's news staff because, Maxwell said, war news was censored.

The U.S. Command spokesman said the cable read: "A comprehensive review of the situation is under way and you will be further advised as soon as possible."

The spokesman said that several days later another cable went to Wylie which read: "On or about Sept. 7, Specialist Maxwell made a specific request to be relieved from his assignment as war news editor. . . Specialist Maxwell is reported to have objected to editorial policies concerning war news. In consonance with his request, Specialist Maxwell was assigned to a different branch on 17 Sept. 1969."

The command spokesman said the second reply "ended the specific query. There's been no further communication."

Besides Maxwell, two other former military broadcasters sent letters to Wylie charging that statements by the secretary of defense, congressmen, top South Vietnamese leaders and reports of enemy violations

Draft Reprieve Promised for Grad Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has granted a year-long reprieve to draftable graduate students, faced with possible induction at the end of the fall semester.

Will Protect Induction Until Next Summer

Following a recommendation of the National Security Council, the White House had told the Selective Service System to keep hands off graduate students until the end of the academic year.

About 10,000 draft-age graduate students will be affected by the policy change, presidential press secretary Ron Ziegler said. He stated flatly the new policy will be followed, although the change came in the form of a recommendation rather than a decree.

The NSC said, in its recommendation, that for graduate students "interruption at the end of a term, other than the final term of the academic year, is costly to the student in terms of expenses and academic progress and therefore contrary to the national interest."

Strange Case of the Green Berets

Until more facts are in, the strange case of the six Green Beret officers in Vietnam against whom charges now have been dropped abruptly will have to go down as evidence of a gigantic inter-service struggle.

Gen Creighton Abrams was described as pressing for the trials and as having said he would resign his command in Vietnam if pressure to drop the charges was successful. Several weeks ago, Central Intelligence Agency officers in Washington called in a few reporters in an unprecedented not-for-attribution meeting in which they said the CIA had nothing to do with the alleged murder of a Vietnamese double agent.

But the Army persisted in its position against great Congressional pressure. Only last weekend, it detailed the way the killing was supposed to have taken place and who was responsible. There were some questions as to whether this was proper in advance of the trials.

Now the Army says all charges are being dropped because the men could not receive a fair trial since CIA men would not testify on grounds that national security would be harmed. How the CIA could have been expected to testify as to its procedures and personnel at a public trial in the first place is another question.

There are more unanswered questions than ever now about the case. Quite aside from the charges, the public can have no conclusion other than that the Army, its special Green Beret force, and the CIA are working at cross-purposes in Vietnam and elsewhere.

Empty Beds in College Dorms

The news that there are some 3,000 empty beds in dormitories of the Wisconsin State Universities is alarming. It is difficult to see how the trend can be changed.

As explained by university officials, there are a number of reasons for the shortages. To some extent they may be due to increase in tuition for out of state students and the efforts of the regents to discourage the attendance of out of state students. This is particularly true on the campuses near state borders. There was an unexpected increase in the number of students who dropped out of school after the spring semester and there undoubtedly will be more dropping out after the first fall term. Policies at some universities have been changed to permit more students to live off campus. In fact, due to indications that the campuses were going to be overcrowded, students last spring were encouraged to find off-campus housing. According to statistics, this expectation was justified as early applications were up but for some reason the students just didn't show up in September. This has also been true at some private colleges in the state this year.

Some weeks ago we referred to a meeting in which students told administrators why they didn't like to live in dormitories. This is a growing trend. The state universities, of course, can require underclassmen to live in dormitories but once permission has been granted for some to live off campus, it is difficult to reverse the policy. University of Wisconsin-Green Bay officials have wisely noted the trend and in cooperation with private industry are building living facilities along apartment rather than traditional dormitory lines. Regulations in dormitories on other campuses have been considerably modified so as to offer more freedom for students and encourage them to move in.

The problem is further complicated by the fact of a shortage of low income housing in many areas surrounding the universities. When students move into private apartments, they are often making the shortages worse and many landlords say they prefer the student tenants because they can get a higher rent.

It is not a simple matter to determine in the spring what enrollments will be in the fall. If the universities change their policies and require more students to live in dormitories, there is every chance that the demand will be greater than the supply of beds, permission will once more be granted to live off campus and the whole matter will have come full circle.

The wider use of private funds in building dormitories is certainly the trend. But what do we do with the publicly financed ones we already have — and the lack of sufficient income to meet payments on the money borrowed to build them?

The FTC Isn't Doing Its Job

One of President Nixon's campaign statements was that "the consumer must be protected." A recent report by a group of lawyers representing the American Bar Association who took over the task at the President's request has pointed out rather forcefully that the Federal Trade Commission is simply not doing the job.

Actually a similar report was made earlier in the summer by trouble shooter Ralph Nader and his group of young men and women sometimes referred to as "Nader's Raiders." Both reports emphasized that the FTC is far too concerned with unimportant trivia, such as discovering that one hubblegum company had the exclusive right to baseball cards, that there is extensive delay in coming to decisions and that there is less work being done now by the FTC with more personnel than in previous years.

It may be that the FTC simply has too big a job to do. It is authorized to work with the Justice Department in anti-trust decisions, for instance, that well could be left to that department and the courts. There is also the problem of cooperation with state and local authorities who are generally much closer to the problems of outright consumer fraud and probably better equipped to handle them. And there is also the difficulty of determining when an ad for a product is intentionally misleading, an outright falsehood or merely an inducement. The "buyer beware" slogan must still apply in a nation when making a profit is important.

The ABA panel has suggested that a revision of the FTC under an outstanding new chairman to be appointed soon by President Nixon might help to solve the problems. But there are other disturbing aspects in salesmanship that barks the consumer, and Mr. Nader, rather than the FTC, has taken the leadership in pointing them out.

It has been reported that the National Traffic Safety Bureau in the United States Department of Transportation knows of defects in the new cars but doesn't release that information. Mr. Nader further points out four studies, listed by Food and Drug Commissioner Herbert Ley last July as reason for his determination that there was no danger in feeding monosodium glutamate to babies, weren't exactly what Mr. Ley inferred. Mr. Nader said two of the studies did not exist and the other two reached no conclusion on the baby food additive which enhances taste. And while most Americans ought to take with a grain of salt the various come-ons in gasoline, toothpaste and cigarette advertising in particular, a lot of them appear to be taken in — or at least admon must so believe.

The foot dragging of the FTC was also revealed when former President Johnson appointed a special consumer agent to look into the problem, a position that has been continued by President Nixon. But there should be more coordination and cooperation among the federal agencies, especially when dangerous or highly defected products somehow manage to get on the market.

'Blessed are the poor, for they shall inherit the welfare fund.'

Falacy of Alliance for Progress: Latin America Is Not an Entity

BY JOHN P. ROCHE

A good point of departure for exploring American policy towards Latin America is to look at the scale of present commitments. In his last budget, in January, 1969, President Johnson requested a total of $625,000,000 for the Alliance for Progress. Of this, only $110,000,000 was allocated for outright grants; the remainder, for development loans. Congress cut this to a figure of $420,000,000. It also provided that no more than $25 million in military assistance (which comes from a different kitty) be allotted to Latin America.

While to most of us this seems like a lot of money, two things should be kept in mind. First, the bulk of it will provide loans; and, second, in comparative terms, it is not a lot of money. In fact, it is peanuts. (President Nixon has, for instance, just requested $625 million additionally (over 10 years) to develop a model airplane, the SST, which will take people places faster than anyone has to get there.) In short, the U. S. "giveaway" program in Latin America is trivial in terms of our Gross National Product. And $25 million would hardly keep a decent-sized army stocked with medals. For those who think this sounds exaggerated, it might be noted that the federal tax on telephone service will bring in an estimated $1.2 billion in 1969.

WANT QUICK RESULTS

Why then is there so much noise, so much paper-shuffling, such a crisis in decision-making? A number of considerations are relevant, but probably the most important is the American passion for quick, visible results. As Lyndon Johnson put it at the Punta del Este meeting in April, 1967,

"Economic and social development is a task not for sprinters but for long-distance runners." As our reaction to the war in Vietnam indicate, we have a national distaste for long-distance running.

In addition, the Kennedy Administration had a talent for oversell and the Alliance for Progress was a classic example. By the time President John F. Kennedy's resident rhetoricians got through packaging it, the Alliance had strong overtones of the Second Coming. In fact, it was an extremely prosaic mix of a number of existing projects which the Kennedy theorists hoped to vitalize, largely by providing new and dynamic leadership. President Kennedy, who had a cold grasp on reality, was by 1963 set to junk the initial structure (which had featured Richard Goodwin trying to play Secretary of State to an audience of unimpressed mandarins at Foggy Bottom) and try again.

Mr. Johnson continued the main lines of Alliance policy, though with few illusions about cut-rate solutions. As he summed it up at Punta del Este, "We have learned much, and much that we have learned confirms the judgment of Ecclesiastes that 'he who increaseth wisdom, increaseth sorrow.' We have long since abandoned the view that rhetoric could alter a social system — or that a blue print could guarantee economic growth."

NO SUCH ENTITY

What neither Kennedy nor Johnson ever publicly questioned was the major premise of the Alliance: that there is such an entity as "Latin America." Yet anyone who has spent any time there recognizes the immense differences that exist within this geographical fiction. The "blancos" of the Rio de la Plata region, for example, have far more in common with Spain than with neighboring Brazil, to say nothing of Guatemala (with its Indian majority) and Haiti (which might as well be on the moon). To Costa Ricans, Mexicans are "North Americans," my Peruvian friends invariably refer to Bolivians as "Tibetans."

Perhaps then the beginning of wisdom is to stop trying to treat the area as a unit, stop pushing that great panacea the "common market," and recognize that unity will not develop because we pretend it is there. In other words, there is a compelling case for bilateral programs tailored to the needs of the individual nations that happen to be on the same map. As far as political strings are concerned, we should play it by ear. With a full recognition that we cannot manipulate democratic leaders into power, we should make every effort to establish the preconditions for the emergence of such leadership. And to help it, once in power.

Above all, we must be generous and patient. Two hundred and fifth million people need our help, but we have to get in spiritual shape for long-distance running.

Master Planning of State's Educational System Badly Needed

BY ROBERT DE ZONIA
MADISON — Educational "master planning" has assumed a number one priority in Wisconsin. From a practical viewpoint, such a ranking is both deserved and comprehended, for education at all levels requires about two-thirds of the state budget to finance its operations.

Robert DeZonia is the executive director of the Wisconsin Association of Independent Colleges and Universities and formerly held a responsible position in the state higher education administration. His guest column replaces the usual dispatch in this space by our Madison correspondent.

While the dollar-and-cents reason is important, so too is the qualitative dimension of education. The impact of education on the quality of life in Wisconsin and across the nation is substantial. In Wisconsin education has earned a pre-eminent position in the broad array of state services.

A few short years ago Gov. Warren P. Knowles focused attention on Wisconsin's "crisis in education" in a special message to the legislature. And recently, the governor announced the formation of the Kellett Task Force, which is undertaking a massive study of education at all levels and in both public and private sections.

ATTENTION TO DETAILS

Too, observers of the current legislative session have been impressed — sometimes negatively — by the degree of attention paid by legislators to the minute details of educational operations and to the parameters of educational policy.

All of this is to say that education since the late 1940s has become just about everyone's business.

To growing numbers, education seems to have blossomed without much forethought. Hence, the various caustic criticisms of the several boards of regents and of the State Coordinating Council for Higher Education (CCH E), which at one time was a single vole away from extinction at the hands of the legislative Joint Finance Committee.

Since Wisconsin's largest enrollment just passed through with the graduation of the 1968 and 1969 college classes, this may be an auspicious time for the collective catching of breath and for the painstaking study contemplated by the Kellett group.

This writer believes that any study of higher education will reveal that some dramatic, perhaps drastic, changes are in order if valid plans for the future are to be developed. Further sound development of vocational-technical opportunities and the overhaul of the administrative structure of higher education appear to be legitimate study areas.

Progress in education cannot be achieved in full measures if all the resources of the state are not wisely employed in meeting the educational needs of the citizenry. Wisconsin's independent colleges and universities undoubtedly will be a vital factor in coping with educational crises in the years ahead.

These distinguished institutions, founded and fostered by private enterprise but deeply involved in the public service and now enrolling more than 30,000 students, must be a part of any "master plan" worthy of the name.

PRIVATE SCHOOL ROLE

Action of the 1968 legislature in expanding tuition assistance grants to Wisconsin youth choosing to attend these colleges suggests recognition that these institutions indeed have a legitimate role to play in providing quality educational experiences to the people. The grants, smaller than the subsidy in tax dollars which would be required to support the same students in state colleges, enable the state to save on over-all educational expenditures and promote freedom of educational choice.

It is programs such as this one, pioneered by the 1965 legislature and later copied (most often improved upon) by about 15 other states, which suggest to educational planners that imaginative and sound programs can be developed for the future which promote fiscal economy without sacrificing educational effectiveness.

Ever more attention will be directed to educational operations and aspirations, and rightly so. Because a well-informed citizenry generally is more receptive to education expenditures, thoughtful educational leadership will not shrink from even the most intense scrutiny.

Simply put, the ivory towers must come tumbling down, the sacred cows must be corralled if the validity of future plans is to be assured.

Geo-Economic Units Of Government Vital

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The most pressing need in America today is to transform our present political units into geo-economic entities, getting rid of our obsolescent "states" and "counties" and replacing them with units of self-government that have relevance to modern needs and conditions.

We ordinarily think of "history" as something dead or remote, but how many of us realize that in the past 20 years alone, more new nation-

Louis — had reached populations of 300,000 persons.

Air pollution is commanding more public attention now than ever, but the problem is at least 500 years old; in Shakespeare's time, the diarist, John Evelyn, recorded "the belish and dismal clouds" which enveloped London, "producing catarrhs, phthisics, coughs and consumption."

If nuclear energy proves too dangerous to handle, one line of hope for the world's future energy-needs lies in "gravitational energy" coming to us from outer space; if it can be harnessed, there is 100 times as much gravitational energy in the universe as nuclear energy.

Our progress in science and technology has come because we have increasingly understood the forces of nature; but we have made little progress in serving the deeper needs of man because we have refused to understand the intricate and subtle workings of mind and spirit.

Speaking of these needs, John H. Bradley, in his book, "Patterns of Survival," a generation ago observed: "Self-directed evolution is the one great adventure in living that no species has ever tried. Should we ever succeed in directing our own evolution toward some rational and moral goal, man would inaugurate a Psychozoic Era which might well be fundamentally different from all eras that have passed."

"Life expectancy" is rising fastest in those lands where there is least to expect.

A. H. Hart Perfects Bee Hive

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Oct. 9, 1869.

Mr. A. H. Hart Sr., of this city, who has been engaged in the culture and management of bees for over 40 years, and has devoted much of his time to the study of the structure of bee hives, has succeeded in producing one that seems adapted in every way to secure the largest returns of honey.

At the state fair just held in Madison, his Excelsior Bee Hive carries away the first premium, although there was lively competition among hive inventors.

We congratulate our fellow townsman on this well-deserved achievement, and hope he may reap a rich reward for what has cost him much money and many years of hard study.

Mr. H. has commenced the manufacture of his hive, on a large scale, and the intrinsic excellence of it commands a large demand for it.

Pennsylvania Tops States in Services

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more transportation, communications and public utility establishments in Pennsylvania than in any other state, according to Dun's Market Identifiers, a marketing service of Dun & Bradstreet. The Keystone State has 5,025 such establishments. New York is second with 4,923 and California third with 4,718.

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

The Appleton League of Women Voters wishes to urge all concerned citizens to contact their representatives, asking them to support the program and revenue package which Governor Knowles will present to a special session of the legislature on September 29th. The program includes: 1) Experimental model schools, teachers' aids, language skill centers, vocational and job training centers, pre-employment training, pilot programs for disadvantaged; 2) assistance to Milwaukee on Model Cities program, matching grants to communities for community improvement, housing grants for low-cost housing, revolving housing loans for low income and elderly families, special projects for Milwaukee inner core, comprehensive community mental health program, water and air pollution abatement; 3) funds to implement tax redistribution as recommended by the Tarr Task Force; 4) restoration of previous levels of welfare aids to dependent children; 5) Marquette Medical School.

The cost of this program is $33 million. The revenue package to fund these proposals totals $36 million and includes: an increase in the beer and liquor tax, an increase of 1/10 of 1 per cent in each bracket of the corporate income tax and an increase of 2/10 of 1 per cent in each bracket of the individual income tax.

The legislature made deep cuts in those funds requested and needed, particularly for welfare aids and urban problems. We are asking citizens to support the Governor's measures because they are designed to restore welfare aids to dependent children and to take the first necessary steps in the search for solutions to our mounting urban crisis in Wisconsin cities.

After checking the welfare situation in our local area, we found there were very few abuses, that recipients needed the aid — often to help pay school costs for their children. If children are not fed, housed, and schooled, how are they to become useful citizens? In our increasingly technological society, skills and education are needed to qualify for jobs. If citizens are not given opportunities to train themselves, the alternative is to remain dependent upon the state indefinitely. To assist fellow human beings escape from the grinding poverty of inner core area problems, we must provide them with better opportunities for vocational and job training, adequate housing, and above all, help toward improved conditions for advancement and dignified living.

If the state does not accept the responsibility and cost now, then it may well have no choice but to assume the far greater costs — in property damage and human lives lost — as the desperately poor seek to force their own advancement. Certainly, the most prudent course is for every citizen of good conscience to back the state government in doing more to combat poverty which stands in the way of so many as they search for fulfillment of the ideal of full equality of opportunity. Now is the time!

The League, therefore, most strongly urges all who share our concern to write their representatives and request their endorsement of the entire program which Governor Knowles will present to the special session on September 29.

states have come into being than in all previous centuries of recorded history?

Language is the great repository of male chauvinism. When we mention animals, we refer to the dog, the horse, the lion, not to the bitch, the mare, or the lioness — which is especially ludicrous in the latter case, since the lioness actively supports the family, doing most of the hunting for food, except when nursing her young.

Demographers now speak of "super-cities" by the end of this century with populations of 15 million and upward; and this explosion can best be grasped by reflecting on the fact that a mere century ago, only three U. S. cities — New York, Philadelphia, and St.

Materialism Blamed for All Our Ills, But Is That Really the Problem?

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

It has come to be fashionable of late for writers and commentators to lay the blame for all the problems of modern America, from environmental pollution to spiritual unrest, at the doorstep of a massive materialism, mothered by science and technology. Even columnist Sydney Harris, in whose refreshing viewpoints on many subjects I find much to admire, has taken up this refrain. He goes so far as to find reason in it for refusing to read science-fiction.

We would be callous indeed not to be revolted by the creeping poisons that are contaminating our material and spiritual environments. But let's at least have the academic integrity to do more than scratch the surface to find the roots of our troubles. To start, a few definitions are in order.

1) Science: Webster supplies, "Possession of knowledge as distinguished from ignorance and misunderstanding." One of our finer social thinkers expands this to, "A methodology for the determination of the most probable in any field of inquiry."

2) Technology: The same source quoted above supplies "The application of science to the means of living," which is a short cut to Webster's, "Totality of the means employed to provide objects for human sustenance or comfort."

Together, science and technology comprise all of the mental and physical tools invented by man to help him control his environment to his own advantage.

But tools are passive things, having no motivations of their own, not even if they are purposely fashioned to expedite a specific task. Is it not specious thinking to blame them for our problems? After all, a simple chisel may be employed to create or destroy a masterpiece of woodwork or sculpture. And the same industrial behemoth that "killed" Lake Erie may be employed to return it to something transcending the beauty of its pristine glory.

As far back as I can remember (which brackets the years between 1920 and today) social and ecological scientists have been warning our leadership of the logical outcome of that wholesale perversion of our mechanical ingenuity which is the real causative agency behind the problems so easily sluffed off on "materialism."

The cultural motivations that drive American society are obscure and conflicting to say the least but Veblen summed it all up very adequately in 1923, with the observation that, "Neither tangible performance nor the common good is a business proposition. Any material good which his traffic may serve is quite beside the business man's purpose, except indirectly, in so far as it may serve to influence his clientele to his advantage."

Contrary to the usual interpretation of this passage, it is not a censure of business men per se but an illumination of the basic motivations underlying the whole mercantile ethic, which, in turn, makes the decisions that direct the way in which our "tools" are employed. The industrialist himself is quite at the mercy of these basic motivations, even if he understands them and his own compelling instincts motivate him toward social betterment. This is the conflict that is polluting our spiritual fabric at the same time that a misdirected technology is destroying our physical environment.

In the whole fabric of the investment enterprise phase of mercantilism, there is an urgency to achieve a return on capital funds that are increasing at an accelerating rate with time, making the urgency more acute with every passing year. This being the case, there is very little hope of controlling the pollution of our mental and material environments unless someone can devise a way to make the endeavor return a percentage on a monetary investment. I'll leave it to the reader to estimate the chances of success in that area.

Children Not Preoccupied With Sex, but Adults Are

Is there another way out? The basic motivations of socialism, communism and fascism are no different than those of American investment enterprise. They abandon the name tag but retain the essential mechanics, as must any economic system based on the primitive concept of distribution through commodity evaluation.

Another way out? There had better be! The human family has about two generations left for it to make up its mind whether it will control its own destiny or become another statistic in the procession of extinct species which have, ephemerally, populated the planet Earth.

Another way out? There certainly is! And it will become evident to anyone who is really serious about finding it, provided he has a social conscience and the imagination to fulfill it.

which is being derided by those who would not have their children know more than they, I would like to ask the deriders, "At what point does the sixth-grade child become preoccupied with the facts of life?" Does a daily period of hygiene instruction (including sex education appropriate to the level of understanding) cause "preoccupation" with sex? I think not.

It is not children who are preoccupied with sex, it is adults. It is adults who program and sponsor the TV trash; it is adults who rush to "X" rated movies; it is adults who buy the large majority of "over 21" magazines.

However, adults whose sex-education has been adequate and whose sex-life is fulfilling do not remain entranced by such garbage. If you would have your child have a healthy attitude toward sex, support sex education and school courses at all levels which are partly sex education.

I do not disagree with adults who think they should be the ones to tell their children about sex matters. My child will be obtaining much of his sex knowledge from his parents, no matter how liberal his school or how aggressive his friends. However, the fact is that many parents feel unqualified to teach or awkward in teaching their children about sex matters. Parents who would teach their children sex and sex values in the home should not be misled into thinking that all children are receiving sex information in the home. If the remaining children are not to learn on the streets; if these children are to break the pornographic chain; they must have sex education.

It is up to each of us to see that children presently denied the opportunity to take a sex-education course in school be denied this opportunity no longer. It is up to each of us to see that our boards of supervisors and teachers are not inhibited by the frenzied attacks of misguided adults. It is up to each of us to see that school sex education courses remain or are upgraded and strengthened.

TV Debate Might Cost Procaccino Election

New York Mayoral Frontrunner Goaded Out of Seclusion by Charges of Cowardice

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

NEW YORK — A sudden loss of support by City Controller Mario Procaccino, law-and-order Democratic nominee for mayor of New York, can be directly attributed to the success of his enemies in goading him out of seclusion.

The battle plan by his managers to limit Procaccino's visibility to the absolute minimum was conclusively demolished last week when he agreed to three televised debates with his two rivals — Mayor John V. Lindsay, running for re-election as the Liberal party nominee after losing the Republican nomination, and state Sen. John Marchi, nominee of the Republican and Conservative parties.

Those debates might well accelerate a decline by Procaccino which has caused far more concern among his backers than they will admit publicly. Privately, they acknowledge that his huge lead of the summer has been severely narrowed. Lindsay has gained a little ground, but the most dramatic progress has been made by Marchi. What just a few weeks ago seemed a certain runaway by Procaccino is now a three-way race where the result is unpredictable and yet to be determined.

The reason is the abandonment of the strategy responsible for Procaccino's upset victory in the June Democratic primary: keep out of sight while maintaining an iron-hard anti-crime posture sure to appeal to this terrorized city's middle-income whites. Moreover, simply by staying unveiled, Procaccino gained through the summer to increase his lead.

Appeared on TV But after Labor Day, Procaccino began popping up on the television screens with shrill answers to the charges of his enemies. What New Yorkers saw was no steadfast nemesis of crime and anarchy but a highly excitable little man with a weakness for malapropism. Furthermore, Procaccino's agreement to debate Lindsay and Marchi within the private confines of the New York Times editorial rooms gave his opponents the chance to charge that he was afraid to confront them publicly.

What finally lifted the veil was the charge (made under needling from a TV newsmen) by J. Raymond Jones, Harlem Democratic leader who is supporting Lindsay, that Procaccino was a coward. When he heard of it, Procaccino dissolved into tears among campaign aides. Even if it lost him the election, he told friends, he could not bear for his family to carry with them forever the shame of alleged cowardice. Rejecting the advice of old pro Democrats, Procaccino agreed last week to the debates.

Consequently, there is deep apprehension among Procaccino's supporters that he will destroy himself in the debates. Nor is he prepared in any way to wage a well coordinated campaign as an active, visible candidate.

Oldtime Politics

Vic Campione, a Bronx clubhouse Democrat who is Procaccino's campaign manager, practices the old politics of a generation ago. The campaign has no polling, has no preconceived television advertising campaign (and only a pitifully small $125,000 currently reserved for that purpose) and no rational plan for the candidate's appearances. Indeed, Procaccino does much of his own scheduling in a little notebook he carries with him — accepting or rejecting invitations as his own fancy dictates.

Against this chaos, the smoothly directed, lavishly financed Lindsay campaign is making some small progress — mainly among lower-middle-income Jewish voters who have turned against the mayor as champion of the Negroes. In recent encounters with generally hostile groups in Brooklyn synagogues, Lindsay has won applause by attacking the Vietnam war. In the past week, Vietnam has become a major theme of his campaign.

But the really dramatic progress has been made by Marchi, regarded as a poor third through the summer. Coolly dignified and self-possessed (though a bit long-winded), Marchi is making progress among the middle-income whites who detest Lindsay's establishment liberalism but now wonder whether Procaccino really fits the role of mayor of the nation's largest city.

Favorable Response

For instance, Marchi spent last Friday night making inroads in heavily Democratic Italian sections of Brooklyn that Procaccino counts on heavily. After being refused entrance earlier in the month, Marchi was invited into one Italo-American social club filled with Procaccino posters. His brief speech, delivered in fluent Florentine Italian, evoked an obviously favorable response.

Accordingly, though either Marchi or Procaccino would annihilate Lindsay by a two-to-one margin in a two-man race, the three-cornered contest is developing into a dead heat with the outcome of the televised debates to determine the winner. Yet, had Mario Procaccino restrained his emotions and stayed in the shadows as the silent strong man, his election for mayor might well have been immutable by now.

Crisis in Morality - The Vatican Speaks Out... V

Humanae Vitae Is New Way of Presenting Moral Problems

BY MSGR. CARLO COLUMBO

Through his distinguished Vatican emissaries, Pope Paul VI speaks out on the moral issues of today: the pill and population, the breakdown of the family, love, sex and marriage.

This article, the fifth of eight, deals with the obligation of a married couple to themselves and to society and mankind.

A simple reading of the encyclical makes clear to the observant reader certain distinctive features. We shall single out three of them:

(1) Frequent reference to tradition.

(2) An equally constant reference to the nature (or structure) of marriage and conjugal activity.

(3) A new way of presenting the moral problems of birth control, linked with an overall view of man and his vocation, but above all, a new way of presenting the moral problems of conjugal love, its qualities and ends.

It is clear that these three aspects envelope the doctrinal substance of the encyclical, and the basis of its moral doctrine. The return to tradition is easy to understand. The encyclical declares that contraception, "any action which either in anticipation of the marriage act, or in its accomplishment, or in the development of its natural consequences, and which has either for end or means the rendering impossible of procreation," is intrinsically illicit, not for contingent or temporary reasons, but because of the "inseparable connection willed by God, and unable to be broken by man, on his own initiative, between the two meanings of the marriage act: the unitive meaning and the procreative meaning."

The Author

Msgr. Carlo Colombo is Dean of the Interregional Faculty of Theology, with his office in Milan, Italy. This year he was appointed as the first and only bishop to the Theological Pontifical Commission.

Born on April 13, 1909 in Olginate, Italy, Msgr. Colombo was ordained into the priesthood in 1931. He served as Professor of Philosophy and then of Theology at the Theological Pontifical Faculty in Milan and was a member of the Preparatory Theological Commission for the Ecumenical Council.

In 1964 Msgr. Colombo was consecrated Bishop of Vittoriana while serving as President of the Tomiolo Institute of the Catholic University in Milan.

Considered the Pope's own personal theologian, he has authored numerous theological treatises as well as articles on philosophy and theology, which have appeared frequently in cultural magazines.

The reference to a divine law ("inseparable connection willed by God") is normal and legitimate in a Christian church, and particularly in the Catholic Church, which holds that Jesus Christ entrusted to the Apostles the duty of teaching all nations to observe everything he had commanded (Matt. 28:19); and he had taught that not everyone who says "Lord, Lord," will enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, but he who does the will of the Father (Matt. 7:21).

Immediately, the question presents itself: how does the Church know, how does the Pope know, that the moral law taught by him is really a divine immutable law, and not merely the statement of an historical interpretation of moral law that was legitimate in some other epoch but now outdated?

The first answer to such a question is given by appealing to the constant tradition of the Church. It is not possible to summarize this tradition here, much less to linger, and examine, and illustrate specific problems and episodes that create difficulties. Anyhow, sometimes even the interpretation given by historians disagree on particular points. But no one doubts that until the well-known decision of the Anglican Church, at the Lambeth conference of 1930, all the Christian churches taught the illicitness of contraception, and thereafter the orthodox churches, as well as the Catholic Church, continued to teach it, through aware that the faithful, in their practical lives, did not all consistently adhere to such moral judgment.

View of Life

Why has the traditional doctrine remained unchanged? The basic reason, touching the very root of the problem, derives from the way Christians, from the very beginning, looked on sexual activity, in direct continuity with Hebrew tradition contained in Scripture. There is no question of a normative passage from Scripture (for not even the Onan passage is decisive), but rather of a view of life, man in his relation with God, and in particular the religious meaning of sexual activity.

In the Hebrew and Christian religious view, the bisexual make-up of humanity is a fact willed by God and destined for His service, by multiplying the life of beings capable of knowing, receiving, and spreading the love of God. "Marriage is not, then, the effect of chance, nor the product of an evolution, nor the unconscious natural forces: it is the wise institution of the Creator for realizing, through mankind, the designs of His love." This is a primary certitude of Christianity.

Consequently, in the Christian tradition conjugal activity has never been looked on as something having to do with the husband and wife merely; it is directed towards a mission that transcends them as individuals, envisaged as a gift from God with a duty attached, of which God Himself is judged in the last analysis; for they cannot always have children when, and above all, how they want.

The procreative aims of conjugal activity are, therefore, beyond dispute, as all admit. But must they be present in every single act, or do they only belong to the complex of acts of a normal conjugal life, destined to last for many years? Here Christian tradition possesses two certitudes: namely, it has always held that it is legitimate for husband and wife to limit the number of offspring, by renouncing, through mutual agreement, the gift of conjugal relations, for which they nurtured a keen and legitimate desire, even in times past, and from which they derived some personal advantage of licit joy and a more profound union.

On the other hand, up to the famous declaration of the Lambeth conference, the same

Christian tradition held that it is wrong for husband and wife to separate, on their own initiative, the attainment of their own personal advantage from their readiness to fulfill the mission connected with the normal exercise of conjugal activity.

The key concept in the Christian moral tradition is this, that the exercise of conjugal activity must not be deliberately limited to the advantage of the spouses exclusively, but that it necessarily implies being disposed to fulfill, as well, the duty of transmitting life, a duty which God alone is judge. It is only in this way that husband and wife act as collaborators with God, source and ultimate Lord of human life. Otherwise it is they who would become "lords" of human life.

This readiness to fulfill one's duty in collaboration with God, radically separates, in Christian tradition, the contraceptive methods, wherein man interferes and prevents the normal procreative process, from the legitimate use of periodical continence. For in the latter case man holds himself in readiness to discharge his duty, which will be determined by God the Creator through man's organic make-up, whereas in the other cases man puts his own will and his own designs in place of God's. This Christian tradition has never granted to man. Man can and must be rationally foreseeing in the fulfillment of his duty of transmitting life, but with a foresight subordinated to a higher divine foresight. Man cannot be the author of the ultimate design of Providence.

At this point, and one can easily see why, the encyclical makes reference to the "creative intention of God, embodied in the very nature of matrimony and its attendant acts, and taught consistently by the Church" (n. 10). Some wanted to omit this reference, accusing the moral doctrine on which it is based of "biologism" and of returning to a "naturalistic" concept of marriage, nowadays replaced by a more developed and truer "personalist" concept.

Reflects Deeply

In fact, whoever reflects deeply on the matter will realize that the encyclical is much more personalistic and more profound than many of its critics suppose. Clearly stating the principle of responsible parenthood, which is attentive to its duties "towards God, towards the spouses themselves, towards the family, and towards society," in a proper hierarchy of values "attentive therefore to the need to heed every aspect of knowledge necessary to guarantee the transmission of life, under the circumstances and for the believer, are signs of the rational thought of God the creator, signs, that is, of a rationality to which he knows he must conform his own thought, and conduct. Nature then, which manifests the "natural law," is not a purely material and opaque nature, it is nature "rationalized" by divine thought.

In the case of man and matrimony it is precisely this nature that makes man a human "person". For those who think of man and matrimony as works of the creative intelligence of God, even the body is part of the human "person"; so His design of love. The foundation of the bisexual structure of humanity, with its characteristics, aims, and consequences, is an essential and determining as human life, nor the human couple to determine, according to their consciences, the number of their offspring, through personal judgment, carefully evaluating all the elements involved. It is actualized, too, through the law which the encyclical formulates, and which says that the exercise of responsible parenthood cannot be brought about by the spouses "according to their own whim, as if they could decide in their own way, the right road to follow; rather, they must conform their actions to the creative intentions of God, expressed in the nature of marriage itself and of its acts."

No believer could doubt but that God, author of man and of his life, is also the ultimate author of the moral laws that must govern the life of man. "Justice" in the biblical sense, or moral rectitude in acting, consists in conforming one's conduct to just laws. God has revealed these laws in two ways: sometimes through his own word, directly, through revelation; but mostly He has written His will into things; themselves, leaving to human intelligence the task, as well as the authority and the joy of discovering it and carrying it into effect in the various sectors of life and multiplex situations and problems it presents.

Natural Law

This, and this alone, is the "natural law," or, to use the Christian terminology, the will of God imprinted upon the nature of things, which human intelligence is called on to inquire into in a docile "religious" spirit, because it puts the intelligence in touch with the thoughts and the will of God. This is what we all do when we speak of the duties of ourselves and of others, derived from a close analysis of the nature of things and situations.

This belief and this way of searching out the "natural" moral law, are based on the certainty that reality, coming as it does from the hands of God, is "rational," that is an expression of an act of willing on God's part that is sovereignly "rational," in other words wise and good, to which man must conform to be likewise "rational," wise and good.

Intelligence of God

Marriage is among the things that come from the creative intelligence of God, and so too do the supporting structures of conjugal life, bisexuality, the physical and psychological make-up of spouses, the relation between them and the transmission of human life, the rhythms and characteristics of the generative process, etc. All these, for the believer, are signs of the rational thought of God the creator, signs, that is, of a rationality to which he knows he must conform his own thought, and conduct. Nature then, which manifests the "natural law," is not a purely material and opaque nature, it is nature "rationalized" by divine thought.

development of husband and wife, but rather the realization and communication of a value which transcends and embodies these particular aspects, namely love, in the image of its supreme source, "God who is love."

This supreme end is expressed tangibly in a twofold manner: through the development of a new capacity for love between husband and wife; and through the physical and spiritual readiness to generate new beings capable of loving for all eternity. "By means of the reciprocal personal gift of self, proper and exclusive to them, husband and wife tend towards a communion of their being with a view to mutual personal perfection, in order to collaborate with God in the generation and education of new lives." The one ultimate reality to which marriage is ordained finds expression in the two forms of love, conjugal love and love generative of life, thus inseparably linked, just as, if we may be allowed to say so, the love which unites the divine Persons is one with creative love.

In this light one is better able to understand the character of the total faithful, exclusive, and fertile conjugal love as the encyclical presents it, for these characteristics are limited and human translations of the spirit incarnate, or the transcendent and infinite love of God. And one can more easily understand the inseparability of the unitive and procreative aspects of conjugal activity, through which man is called to imitate and interpret the personal love of God the creator, by a free personal decision.

At each moment, the love of God is directed to three orders of persons: to the divine persons, who, according to the Christian faith, are the source of all reality and of every value; to the persons of the husband and wife, whom God, in calling to marriage, destines, for a particular kind of imitation of His eternal and transcendent love; and to the persons of the children, whom, through the free collaboration of the husband and wife, He wants to call to eternal life. And the spouses, imitators of the love of God, are called to express a triple love in their every act: reciprocal love, by which each must seek the good of the other; love of the children and of the community, towards whom they have a duty to procure each one, with true charity and insofar as the foresight allows, the best possible conditions for taking his place in history, which is due to the course determine eternal value; and love of God, with whom, whose designs, not fully comprehensible to us, they know themselves to be no more than ready collaborators and not masters. For it is God alone who knows whether a life is to be welcomed for all eternity, stamped on the "very nature of marriage and its acts," or rejected because it judged according to human values, which are of limited import.

Tangibly Expressed

The conclusive meaning of the teaching of the encyclical, then, is this: that man, that husband and wife, grow in stature as persons the more they imitate the love of God the creator by accepting His designs stamped on nature created by Him, instead of superimposing on them the limited calculations of their own presumed wisdom.

On this point, undoubtedly, there has been a deepening of understanding of the traditional doctrine, and I would go so far as to say that this is clearer in the encyclical than in the pastoral constitution Gaudium et Spes. The strongest point made in the encyclical is the link established between marriage man "person". For those who think of man and matrimony as works of the creative intelligence of God, even the body is part of the human "person"; so His design of love. The foundation of the bisexual structure of humanity, with its characteristics, aims, and consequences, is an essential and determining as human life, nor the human

Home Ownership Costs Up But Still a Bargain

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Can you remember what your annual electric bill was 20 years ago? Or how much your gas and water bills have risen since 1949? Do you know how the interest you're paying on your Porter mortgage today compares with the average in '49? Or what local tax hikes have done to your overall home ownership costs?

The overwhelming majority of us in the U.S. are now homeowners. The costs of owning and Item	1949	1969	% Chg.

Loan principal, Int.	$1,297.68	$1,678.23	+29
City taxes	578.00	988.00	+71
County taxes	416.00	694.00	+67
Fire-extended coverage	42.00	33.00	-18
Ins.-Homeowners Ins.	41.18	123.46	+300
Electric bill	50.90	120.81	+242
Gas bill	46.00	59.52	+29

The comparisons are shockers—but you must not accept them at face value. Behind each statistic are facts essential to an accurate interpretation.

The Insurance Information Institute is eager to publicize the figures for the obvious reason: insurance is the only area showing a minus sign. But behind the drop is the basic fact that so many more homes are being insured today that the insurers are able to hold down increases in premiums. Also, the economical homeowners insurance—the kind which the vast majority of homeowners buy today—simply was not available 20 years ago.

Again, most homes are being equipped with far better safety features than back in 1949: ceilings and side walls are being insulated with fireproof materials, more electric outlets are replacing hazardous extension cords, heating systems are becoming much safer than the ones in common use 20 years ago. This doesn't in any way detract from the fact that insurance is the only item lower than two decades ago but it helps place the fact in perspective.

Use Quadrupled

On the other hand, behind the tripling in yearly electric bills is not a tripling of electric rates but rather the fact that we have about quadrupled our use of electricity from an average of 1,200 kilowatt hours to well over 5,000 now. The typical American kitchen is a buzzing food "factory" sludged with electric blenders, food freezers, self-defrosting refrigerators, knife sharpeners, etc., and the typical U.S. home is loaded with electrical appliances. Actually, Baltimore's electric rate has dropped over the past 20 years—from 3.19 cents to 2.47 cents per kw.

Behind the rise in our gas bills also is the soaring consumption of gas from 23,100 to 23,500 cubic feet. This has more than offset the sharp drop in per unit gas costs, from 22 running our homes now rank with our biggest single family budget items. But there is little understanding of how these costs have changed over the years.

For instance, overall home ownership costs have risen 39 per cent since 1949, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. But the cost of repainting a living or dining room has jumped 74 per cent in this period; the cost of resingling a roof has jumped 54 per cent; water and sewage disposal bills are up a steep 43 per cent; maintenance and repair bills are up nearly 41 per cent.

This little chart, drawn up by the Insurance Information Institute in New York, dramatizes the 1949-69 changes by an illustration of a $20,000 house with a VA mortgage for the full sales price in Baltimore (closest city to the average urban cost of living in the U.S.).

cents to 14.5 cents per hundred cubic feet.

So it goes. The explanation for the jump in water bills is our swelling consumption of water from 385 to 399 gallons per family per day. If anything, I'm astounded our national water bill hasn't risen far more. The explanation for the rise in city and county taxes is the jump in public services we demand—ranging from schools to police to hospitals.

In sum, the rise in the costs of homeownership shapes up as modest and a home still seems among the best of all bargains. (Copyright 1969)

The last of this year's appointments to the Lawrence University faculty were announced Thursday by President Thomas S. Smith.

Named were: Richard G. Long, associate professor of mathematics; Laila Nessim Abou-Saif, assistant professor of theatre and drama; William L. Bewley, Jr., assistant professor of psychology;

Monica M. Schneider, head of library technical services; Lois E. Von Gehr, instructor in religion; John Baldwin, lecturer in music; and Lee B. Hopkins, director of the computer center with the rank of lecturer.

Two others, Linda M. Skoug and William Robertson, Jr., will assume special teaching positions at the conservatory.

Long, a native of Dalls, Iowa, received a B.A. degree with a major in mathematics from Read College, Portland, Ore. His Ph. D. in math was received from the University of Washington. While there he held positions as teaching and research assistant and teaching associate, and in 1956 was named acting instructor. From 1958 to 1965 he taught at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., as assistant professor. Since that time he has held a series of executive posts with the Mathematics Association of America in San Francisco and Belmont, Mass.

Mrs. Abou-Saif, born in Cairo, Egypt, studied at Cairo University and received a B.A. degree with a major in English literature from the American University in that city. She attended Cambridge University and the University of Chicago, where she was given an M.A. in English in 1963. She recently completed her Ph.D. in theatre at the University of Illinois. She has held positions as a tutor at the American University in Cairo, and as stage director of Cairo's Al Hakim Theatre.

Bewley received his B.A. in psychology from Stanford University and his M.A. from the University of Wisconsin, where he is currently a doctoral candidate in psychology. He was a research and teaching assistant at Wisconsin, and for the past two years has been senior human engineering analyst at The Boeing Co., Seattle, Wash.

Miss Schneider, a native of Menominee, Mich., attended the University of Wisconsin, Green Bay, and received a B. S. degree in history and an M.S. in library science at the Madison campus. She has been employed by the Standard Educational Corporation of Chicago; Argonne National Laboratory, Lemont, Ill.; the University of Wisconsin-Center System Libraries, Madison; Michigan State University; and Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Miss Von Gehr was graduated from Smith College, Northampton, Mass., with a B.A. degree in government. She received an M.A. in religion from Columbia University in 1963 and an M.A. in Christian theology from the University of Chicago in 1967. She is currently a Ph. D. candidate at Chicago. In 1967 she taught in the religion department at Miami University of Ohio.

Baldwin, a native of Arkansas City, Kans., received a bachelor's degree in music education from the University of Wichita and a masters from Wichita State University. He is working toward a Ph.D. in music theory at Michigan State University. He has been an instructor in percussion instruments at the University of Wichita; Michigan State; the Daniel Boone Forest Music Camp, Morehead, Ky.; and at a Ludwig percussion symposium at Northwestern University. Last year he was a percussion instructor at Oshkosh State University. Since 1967 he has been editor of the national Music Camp, Interpercussion column of "The School Musician," a national of junior, intermediate and senior magazine.

Hopkinson, a former U.S. Army captain, holds B.S. and M.S. degrees in electrical engineering from the University of Connecticut. He formerly served as Plans and Operations Officer for the headquarters of the United States Strike Command and taught at the University of Tampa and Hillsboro Junior College, Tampa, Fla. He also worked as a programming consultant for the University of Connecticut. His special fields are systems programming and analysis.

Green Bay and Manitowoc Symphonies. In addition to teaching Conservatory graduate, he is a manager and head of Lawrence ticket services.

CLINTONVILLE — The annual meeting of the Aid Association for Lutherans, Branch 496, will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 12 at the St. Martin Lutheran School gymnasium.

Election of officers will be conducted during the business session. Presently serving are Vernon Kluth, president; Charles Mack, vice president; Mrs. Roy Kirchner, secretary, and Milton Boehlke, treasurer.

Two films will be shown, "Switzerland" and "North American Deer Family." Lunch will be served.

A two-year, $19,000 science research grant for psychology students has been given to Lawrence University by the National Science Foundation.

The grant is for a study entitled "Component Strength as a Function of the Type of Compound Conditioned Stimulus." The study will be directed by Thomas W. Baker, assistant professor of psychology.

COG Okays Aid Requests Of Law Units

Winnebago Training, Appleton Teletype Gain Endorsement

Applications for federal assistance for training in Winnebago County and equipment at Appleton gained endorsement Wednesday afternoon from the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) law enforcement technical advisory committee.

Lt. Edward Mich, assistant chief at the Winnebago Sheriff's office, said the county was seeking 60 per cent of $6,949 for training for four lieutenants, seven sergeants and one patrolman in "the critical areas" of command, training and delinquency.

Under the application, the county would put up $2,579 for the University of Wisconsin Extension classes, ranging from three days to three weeks.

Sgt. James Cotter, of the Appleton police department bureau of planning research and training, said his department wanted 60 per cent of $6,885 for a new teletype machine which will fit in with the scanner system to be incorporated into the state system in a few months.

"Ours is the oldest machine in the state," he said. The $4,131 federal share would be over three years and the local share $2,754, he said.

He said it would improve greatly the efficiency of operations.

The committee endorsement enhances the chances for approval by the state Council on Criminal Justice, which allocates federal funds under the Omnibus Crime law.

Armstrong, Collins Arrive in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Michael Collins flew here today for a 20-hour visit on their South American goodwill tour.

On their way from Bogota, Colombia, Armstrong and Collins made an unscheduled stop in Brasilia, the capital of Brazil, for 90 minutes of sightseeing Wednesday.

The third Apollo 11 astronaut, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., left the party in Bogota to fly back to the United States to attend the AFL-CIO convention at Atlantic City, N.J. He will rejoin the other two in Spain.

UWGB Program

Part Time Degree Courses Offered

Adult students who are taking their first credit classes this fall at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay may look forward to completing work toward a degree, if they wish, without interrupting a normal daytime routine of employment or home-making.

The "after hours" degree will be possible because of an expanded program of late afternoon and evening classes, according to plans announced today by Dr. Raymond D. Vlasin, assistant chancellor for community outreach and research.

"At present, approximately 100 courses or sections are offered at the four UWGB campuses," Vlasin said. "We are now working out a sequence of classes in each college that will enable students to begin and complete a degree program entirely between the hours of 4 and 10 p.m."

Classes are now regularly scheduled from 7:45 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday, Vlasin pointed out, and most evening courses are taught by the regular University faculty.

Sequence of Courses

At Green Bay, a sequence of courses equivalent to a four-year undergraduate program will be available in late-day classes. At the Fox Valley, Manitowoc and Marinette campuses, late afternoon and evening courses will be scheduled for a complete freshman-sophomore program.

Part-time students who finish the first two years may then transfer to the Green Bay campus or to another degree-granting institution for the junior and senior years.

Registration Open

Although classes are already well under way for the first semester, it is not too early to apply for admission to the University for the second semester, Vlasin said.

Under the University calendar adopted this year, the second semester begins Feb. 2. Timetables listing daytime and evening credit courses at all four campuses will be available in late November from the Office of the Registrar at Green Bay or the Office of Student Affairs at the two-year campuses.

Ft. Benning Becomes Target Of Graft Crackdown in Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators following a trail of alleged multimillion-dollar graft involving the operations of servicemen's clubs from Germany to Vietnam have a new target—Ft. Benning, Ga.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff's investigations subcommittee scheduled testimony today from Army investigators concerning their probe into allegations of illegal activities by top-ranking sergeants running noncommissioned officers clubs on the huge southern post.

Ft. Benning's NCO clubs were brought into the inquiry Wednesday when Ribicoff said many of the sergeants allegedly involved in skimming profits from overseas clubs had managed to be transferred to the Georgia base.

Ribicoff said a small clique of sergeants—whom he said used their stripes as camouflage for raids on club funds—perfected a system of controlling their transfers from base to base.

Thus, he said, members of the group—one witness has called them criminal conspirators—were always transferred to the same base at about the same time—first from Germany to Vietnam and then to Ft. Benning.

The senators also were told Wednesday protective payoffs siphoned from money stolen from slot machines were spread over the upper echelons of the 24th Infantry division in Germany—including the office of its commanding general, Maj. Gen. William A. Cunningham III.

Another witness said Cunningham vetoed all requests for an expanded investigation into the thefts—estimated to total more than $1 million for a four year period.

Cunningham, however, denied he failed to take steps to halt any thefts.

"There was always mismanagement but I can assure you every action was taken care of properly at the time," Cunningham said in Gainesville, Fla., Wednesday.

Cunningham, who said he would "do anything possible to protect my good name," declared "This is something that happened four, five and six years ago. I do not recall the exact circumstances."

But he said there is "no validity" to the accusations, and added: "I don't know enough of the details of the charges. I am sitting up here and don't know what's going on."

Ribicoff said Wednesday he has ordered that hearing transcripts be sent to Cunningham and all other persons cited in testimony. He said the general would be permitted to testify if he desired.

Cunningham retired in 1966 and is now an official of the Lanier Islands Development Authority, a state-chartered agency developing islands in Georgia's Lake Sidney Lanier for recreational use.

Staff Sgt. Edward Jones—the only man convicted of stealing slot machine funds at 24th Division clubs—gave this account Wednesday of protection payments

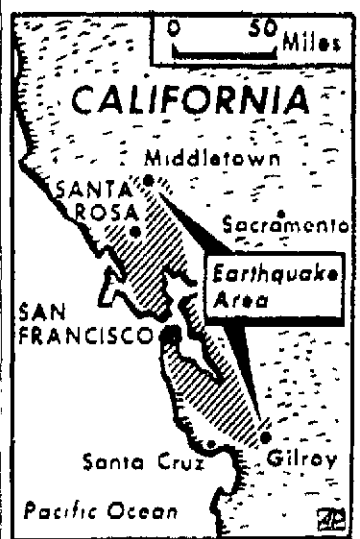

"We were told this went to higher-ups, and like I say, the name of Gen Cunningham was mentioned, and also Sgt. Maj. William Wooldridge.

"And they (other club sergeants) did say statements like 'very, very high.' 'Who they were trying to say this was, I don't know.'"

Wooldridge was once the sergeant major of the Army, making him the service's top-ranking enlisted man.

Northern California Hit By Strong Earthquake

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — At least 24 persons were injured by two earthquakes that ruined two houses here Wednesday night, knocked out electrical power and broke gas and water mains.

No fatalities were reported.

A third tremor, milder than the first two, was recorded between 5:27 and 5:28 a.m. today.

The tremors centered at Santa Rosa, 60 miles north of San Francisco, but were felt as far south as Gilroy, 75 miles south of San Francisco.

A 20-foot wide section of brick wall fell from the third story of the Miramar Bai to the street, heavily damaging a parked automobile.

Pacific Gas & Electric Co. said electrical power was off for eight minutes in the city of nearly 50,000 residents. The utility called in emergency crews and had 50 men shutting off leaking gas mains. One small

'Milwaukee Phil' Appeal Denied

DENVER (AP) — Chicago Mafia figure Felix Alderisio, 57, began serving a 4½ year federal sentence recently after Judge Alfred A. Arraj of U.S. District Court denied him a further appeal bond.

Alderisio, known as "Milwaukee Phil," was one of three men convicted April 7, 1965 of conspiracy to murder former Denver lawyer Robert Sunshine.

Another defendant in the case, Willie I. Alderman, 67, is serving a sentence of indeterminate length, and the third man, Rudy Kolod, has died since the trial.

The three had remained free through a long series of appeals.

Last July, a federal grand jury indicted him on a charge of unlawful possession of firearms.

fire was extinguished before there was serious damage.

Water from broken pipes caused damage in one department store.

Injured persons were taken to three hospitals in the Santa Rosa area. Most suffered cuts caused by broken glass, although there was one report of a broken neck.

One house was jolted four feet off its foundations and another was so badly rocked that it probably will have to be demolished.

Seismologists at the University of California in Berkeley said the first quake was at 9:56 p.m. and the second at 11:19 p.m. and that both registered at between 5.5 and 5.6 on the Richter scale.

The Richter scale is logarithmic, each higher number representing 31 times the energy of the preceding number.

In 1906, the San Francisco earthquake registered at 8.25.

Anti-Haynsworth Cries Rise in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has come under mounting pressure from his own party in the Senate, reportedly including the GOP's No. 2 leader, to pull back his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

Congressional sources indicated that Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin suggested to the President during his Tuesday meeting with GOP congressional leaders that Haynsworth's name come down.

A spokesman for Griffin declined Wednesday either to confirm or deny the report. The spokesman said Griffin considered any conversation he had with the President as strictly confidential.

Griffin spearheaded the successful fight last year against President Johnson's attempt to appoint Abe Fortas chief justice.

There was no doubt other Senate Republicans were anxious to see the appointment of Haynsworth, now chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, withdrawn.

The only Negro senator, Massachusetts Republican Edward W. Brooke, Wednesday released a letter he had written to Nixon urging the President to withdraw the nomination or face an "embarrassingly" close vote and possibly even defeat.

"I really think there will be a heavy vote against him," Brooke said in an interview after the letter was released. "If it's presented to the Senate it will be most embarrassing to Republican senators and even some Democratic senators."

Brooke became the first Republican senator to publicly urge withdrawal of the name and the first senator of either party to actually predict the nomination might be defeated.

Declines Count

Brooke declined to say how many committed anti-Haynsworth votes he came up with in his own nose count.

But he said he had found a substantial number of Republicans willing to break with tradition and go against their President.

"It's more than any five or six, I'll tell you that," he said.

An aide to Brooke put the total somewhat higher, saying "more than 10, or enough of a trend so the vote could be very substantial."

It was understood that Brooke acted without consulting the Senate Republican leadership and had hoped to jar some colleagues, who have been privately critical, into taking a public stand.

One that spoke up right away, was New York's Charles Goodell, currently the Senate GOP's leading maverick.

"A bold and courageous move," said Goodell who stopped short of seconding the call for withdrawal or even pledging his own vote against Haynsworth.

There was no immediate comment from the White House on the Griffin report or the Brooke letter.

However, there were various reports about Nixon's reaction to Griffin's suggestion. One had it that the President caustically rejected the idea. Another report said Griffin was given a dressing down.

Nixon's latest public comment on the Haynsworth situation had come last Friday when he told a news conference he had no intention of taking Haynsworth's name from the lists.

Although criticism of Haynsworth—centering on civil rights decisions and extensive business deals that made him a millionaire while on the federal bench—has come from both sides of the aisle, most has been generated by Democrats.

Traditionally the Senate has been inclined to go along with a president's nominations.

Ten votes from the President's own party, however, would be enough to take some of the shine off confirmation, not to mention the impact that many could have if coupled with a sizeable turnout of the Senate's nearly 40 liberal members.

Timing Unclear

It also is not clear when the nomination will reach the floor.

The Judiciary Committee, after what was described as a "heated" session, Wednesday put off a vote until next week at the earliest.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the leading Haynsworth opponent on the committee, suggested the postponement until he could get financial records that he says Haynsworth has failed to supply despite repeated requests.

The formal request for postponement, however, was made by Republican Strom Thurmond of South Carolina in an obvious effort to head off even more delay.

Under committee rules, a one-week delay can be granted on the request of a senator only once and Thurmond—a staunch Haynsworth backer—has now used up the privilege.

Protest to Drug Crackdown Mexican Travel Boycott Launched

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (AP) — Civic leaders launched today a boycott on nonessential travel by Mexicans to the United States.

The boycott, dubbed Operation Dignity, was in reply to Operation Intercept, the wide-flung U.S. screen against narcotics from Mexico which has sharply reduced the dollar tourist trade.

Meanwhile, Dr. Alfonso Quiroz Cuaron, leading Mexican criminologist and narcotics authority, said Operation Intercept would have no effect on major smugglers and would only produce "a wave of anti-Americanism along the border."

Operation Dignity was put into effect here and at Juarez, across the river from El Paso, Tex., but efforts to enroll other major border cities were running into resistance. Community leaders in Tijuana, Mexicali and Nogales opposed it.

Operation Intercept involving searches of all persons and vehicles crossing the border has discouraged tourism and commercial traffic from Brownsville, Tex., to San Ysidro, Calif.

The objective of Operation Dignity, said Rafael Longoria, president of the Nuevo Laredo Chamber of Commerce, "is to create pressures on higher level officials to do something to end this humiliating situation."

Launched Sept. 21, Operation Intercept has aroused widespread official and unofficial indignation in Mexico.

Dr. Cuaron said in an interview: "It is naive to believe that big-time narcotics smugglers are doing business through border crossing stations. They are using planes and boats and couriers at obscure and unguarded border points."

Operation Intercept has yielded up no large narcotics caches, but U.S. officials believe it has curbed the inflow of marijuana and opium.

Finding Allergy Cause Is Difficult Procedure

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson My son, 16, has been greatly troubled with watery eyes, running nose, and a terrible cough. Now he has developed asthma. He has been to three doctors, the last an allergy specialist.

Tests for ordinary household substances showed up negative. He has taken a lot of medication which has helped him greatly, but I do not feel that is the solution, and would like to cure his condition or at least find out what he has. Can you help us with a suggestion? — H. D. S.

I don't know how much I can help, but I can give what I believe to be solid advice.

Allergy, as you have gathered, is the basis of most asthma, in young people "Curing" allergy, and thus stopping the asthma, is not an easy matter. The fact that the tests so far have not shown what substances cause his allergic responses doesn't mean that you should give up trying to find the answer.

People can, in some cases, be allergic to almost anything, which makes it a matter of hunting for a needle in a haystack. Still, it is important to find that "needle" if you can, and I would have the specialist continue the search.

Meantime both you and your son, by being observant, and very likely by keeping a diary, may find an important clue. That is, keep a diary noting down each attack of asthma (or each attack that is harder than usual) and try to correlate these attacks with what he does, where he goes, what he eats, what materials he uses in school, hobbies, or whatnot. It is not at all unusual for

He must find out some of the things that bother him, and then either avoid them or have desensitization treatment for the offending materials.

Dear Dr. Thosteson. Is it safe for a woman who is three months pregnant to have a small amount of electrolysis work done on the upper lip? — B. C.

I see no possible danger.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a really big problem that's driving me out of my mind. I am 14 years old, 180 pounds, and 5 feet 3. All my friends my age are much taller and this hampers me and I get out of sorts. Is there any way I can increase my height — hormones or anything? Please don't tell me to wait long or forget about it. If someone says that again I'll just drop. T. D. B.

All right, I won't tell you to wait or forget about it. Instead, I'll suggest that your real answer would be to lose 50 pounds.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and with no gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

such a person to be allergic to a number of items, some more than others. It may be a protracted and frustrating search, I admit, and I'm sorry, but you might as well face hard facts. Even if you never identify all of the substances that bother him, if you can find some of them, it will help.

The medication that relieves his asthma is not, as you say, a cure. But keep on with the medication, because it is characteristic of asthma that with an attack the patient becomes more tense and nervous (that's not hard to understand!) and with that tenseness he is even more likely to have further attacks.

So continue the medication — and continue the search for the things that bother him. Even if it is a long search, it will be worth it, for at his age he is not likely to "outgrow" his allergies and his asthma.

Monthly Allowance Low

Fewer Veterans of Vietnam War Enroll in Colleges Under GI Bill

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Returning veterans of the Vietnam war are not applying for the educational benefits extended to them by the national government as concisely as previous generations of veterans, and state educational officials are curious about the reasons.

Only about 20 per cent of the men returning from military service today are using the educational "bonus" provided in the so-called "GI Bill," as contrasted to the 30 to 40 per cent of World War II veterans. The figures were produced at a meeting of Gov. Warren P. Knowles' educational cabinet, and ranking state educational authorities volunteered a variety of explanations. An apparent consensus was that the substance allowance paid by the government for students today, at $130 a month, is comparatively low.

Sacred Heart School Plans Paper Drive

SHERWOOD — St. John Sacred Heart Catholic School will conduct a paper drive Oct. 9-11. Paper and magazines, tied separately in bundles, will be accepted at the school or contributed by mail for collection. Proceeds will be used to buy educational equipment.

Young Hobby Club
Use Shallow Necktie Box to Make Handy Crayon Tray

BY CAPPY DICK
A crayon caddy, or tray, is a handy gadget for the boy or girl who enjoys coloring as a hobby. The caddy keeps the various colors of crayon neatly arranged so that it is easy to select the one that is wanted. This saves time and makes coloring a lot more fun.
The tray, shown in figure 4, is made from a shallow necktie box. It is equipped with special separators that will help to keep the crayons in order. It also has two handmade easels at the back so the tray will stand up but tilted slightly backward.
The top of the necktie box is not needed. One long side of the bottom section should be removed. (Figure 1).
Two separators are to be made from lightweight cardboard as in figure 2. The flaps are to be glued inside the box. Because the flaps extend in opposite directions, the separators will stand upright.
The cardboard easels glued to the back of the box should be made of heavier cardboard. They are simply triangles with one edge sharply folded, forming a flap to be glued to the box.
Place the crayons in the caddy with the pointed ends up.

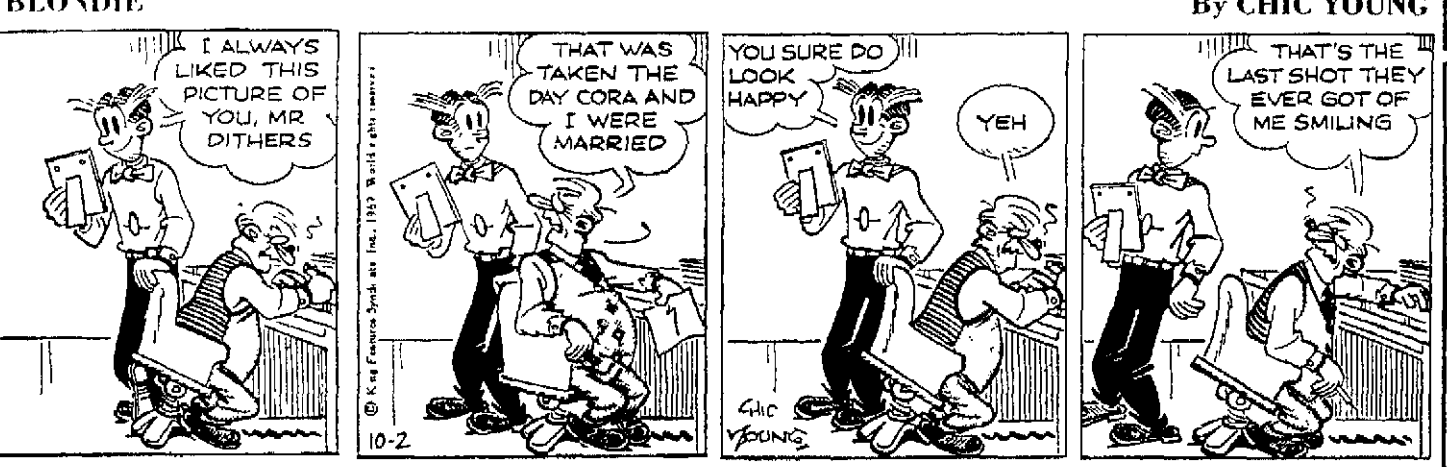

SEND FOR THIS CAPPY DICK BOOKLET!
Parents! Cappy Dick's "Birthday Party Stunts" booklet contains 45 games for children to play. It's a great help in planning a party or cub scout meeting. # It's Easier To Break The Rules

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Everybody knows the rule for crossruffing. You use your low trumps first because that's when the danger of an overruff is least. Later, you use your high trumps to shut out an overruff. It's a good rule for most hands, but in some cases you should make sure of your contract by turning it upside down.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

West leads the queen of clubs, and you win in dummy with the king. You cash the ace of diamonds, ruff a diamond, then cash the ace of spades and ruff a spade. So far, so good.

The actual declarer next led another diamond from dummy and ruffed with the nine of hearts. This was a fatal error. West overruffed with the ten of hearts and led the jack of clubs. Declarer tried to win with dummy's ace, but East ruffed and returned a trump.

South had only six tricks in and could get three more tricks with the trumps, but that left him one trick short. Very unlucky.

Shut Out Both
South can afford to ruff in such a way as to shut out both opponents. After he has managed to win a trick with dummy's three of trumps and his own deuce, South is home.

Declarer ruffs the third round of diamonds with the ace of trumps. He then ruffs a spade with dummy's jack of hearts, since he doesn't know who has the ten of hearts or when he is in danger of being overruffed. He continues by ruffing a diamond with the king of trumps and another spade with dummy's queen.

By this time South has taken the first nine tricks. He leads dummy's last diamond and ruffs with the nine. Either this will take a 10th trick or dummy's eight of hearts will become set up if the nine of hearts is overruffed by the ten.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S- Q 9 8 4, H- 7 6 4, D- K Q 10 8 7, C- 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. The hand is not quite worth a response of two diamonds, but is well worth a response. If your partner avoids opening with a weak four-card major suit, your best response may well be a raise to two hearts.

Mrs. Searl Elected Head of Fox Valley Medical Group

Mrs. Howard A. Searl, Fond du Lac, assumed the duties of president of the Fox River Valley Branch of the Wisconsin Association of Medical Technologists at a recent district meeting at Combined Locks.

Mrs. Searl is section chief in serology and special procedures at St. Agnes Hospital Clinical Laboratory. She received her B. A. degree from Ripon College and her B. S. degree from Marian College of Fond du Lac with clinical training at St. Agnes School of Medical Technology.

Assisting Mrs. Searl will be Miss Joann Poppy, Green Bay, vice president; Miss Patricia Maresch, Appleton, secretary, and Sister Virginia Bauer, Green Bay, board of directors. Miss Norma Ludwig is concluding her second year of a two-year term as treasurer.

The Fox River Valley Society of Medical Technologists includes members from hospitals and clinics in Green Bay, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, and Fond du Lac.

Electronic Vocal Chords Turn on Who?

BY ERMA BOMBECK

As I told my husband, if I don't get out of this house and communicate with people who cut up their own meat and use words over two syllables, I'm going bananas.

"So pick a day and go," he said.

Impulsively, I picked last Wednesday and called his office to see if he could join me for lunch. The voice at the other end said, "This is a recording. The party you called is not in. When you hear the tone would you speak clearly and give your name and telephone number. Your call will be returned as soon as possible."

"Good talking to you," I said and hung up. Then I dialed an old friend of mine.

"This is the operator. The number you have called is no longer in service. If you wish assistance would you please stay on the line. This is the operator... the number you have called..."

I decided to go to town by myself. As I pulled into the drive-in bank, I was confronted with a TV screen and a voice that instructed me in clipped nasal how to cash my check.

Wheeling into the drive-in restaurant for a sandwich, I was confronted with a faceless voice that asked for my order and repeated it after me like a robot.

"You old dog, you," I said into the speaker, "where have you been hiding yourself?" The response was a click.

At the garage I addressed myself to an automatic ticket puncher that flashed what levels had available parking.

"Got a minute?" I asked leaning out of the window. A car honked me on.

As I walked onto the elevator, a voice again implored me to face the front, stay clear of the door and press the button for my floor.

The people stood erect and expressionless. "I suppose you're all wondering why I've called you together today," I began. They all filed off at the next floor.

I decided to try my husband's office once more. "I am sorry," said a taped voice. "All the lines are busy. If you wish to remain on the line you may do so. This message will not be repeated. Repeat. This message will not be repeated. Repeat. This message..."

There were several choices left to me. I could stay in town and carry on a one-way conversation with automation or I could go home and massage my throat muscles.

I went home and made a small tape on my son's recorder. That night at dinner I flipped the switch. "Hello," it said, "I am your pot roast. If you wish to accept me, you will do so at your own risk. If you need assistance in carving, please raise your hand and remained seated. This message and the pot roast will destruct itself in five minutes. Good luck!"

My family sat there stunned. Finally my husband spoke, "You know, you ought to get out of the house more and talk to people. The kids and I are beginning to worry about you."

Elks Frolic at Playboy Club Party

Appleton's Elks Club changed in appearance Saturday evening as it joined the ranks of Playboy Clubs in the nation — if only for an evening. Members opened their social season with a Playboy party complete with gatefold girls, bunny posters, bunny pictures, ears and balloons that were planned to turn all Elks and their ladies into Playboys and Playmates.

The evening began with a cocktail hour and dinner. Later, there was dancing and special games during intermissions.

Serving on the social committee were Mr. and Mrs. Curt Biggar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kools, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Deltgen, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Ambrosius, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mueller, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Sylvester, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Berner, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sommers, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Acker, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Braun, John Reddy and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyneis.

Bunnies Here, bunnies there, bunnies everywhere — or so it seemed as Mr. and Mrs. Ted DeKoch and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koletzke arrive for the Elks Club's first party of the season. At right, Mrs. Dennis Braun crowns Mrs. John Fafinski with a pair of bunny ears while her husband watches. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Lutheran Women Attend Convention

LA CROSSE — Mrs. James Mohr and Mrs. Robert Larkee, healthy from Trinity Lutheran Church, Dr. Nelson Trout, Menneapo-Appleton, attended the Lutheran Church Women convention at Evangelism of the American English Lutheran Church. The theme, "365 Days — Bringing Light to the Dark Woman," was developed by Dr. Nick Topczes, Milwaukee, in his speech on "What Makes a Woman Tick," stressing that

Mothers of Twins Conducting Drive For Members

The Fox Valley Mothers of Twins Club, organized in 1965 by 10 women who felt sharing the problems and joys of raising twins might help them understand their children better, are in the midst of a membership drive. Any one who has twins is welcome to join the group.

Interested women may call Mrs. Don Moder, Mrs. Don Dahl, Mrs. Michael Leahy or Mrs. Robert Goerl.

The group meets regularly the second Thursday of each month at Sabre Lanes with the next meeting scheduled at 8 p.m. Oct. 9.

Is It Authentic?

Is your clock an authentic reproduction? The original Roman numeral "four" was written "IIII." The modern form is "IV." If the replica of an early clock uses "IIII," it is an authentic reproduction.

Mr. Emil Swanson, Seattle, Wash., talked on behalf of the national auxiliary. The women voted to support the right of the astronauts to pray and read scripture while in outer space.

Elected to the board of directors of Lutheran Church Women, Wisconsin-Supper Michigan Synodical Unit, were Mrs. Robert Binge, Clear Lake, vice president; and Mrs. Howard Kettinger, Ashland, secretary, for two-year terms, Mrs. Lawrence Ackerman, Racine; Mrs. Edward Boire, Milwaukee; Mrs. W. W. Nodolf, Belmont, and Mrs. Isaac Saari, Wakefield, and for a one-year term, Mrs. John Jeffers, Superior.

Urban 4-H Club Is Organized

Organizational meeting for the first 4-H club in Appleton will be at 3:45 p.m., Oct. 14 at Roosevelt Jr. High School. Members will get acquainted, decide on a club name and possibly elect officers. All will be carrying the knitting project. Leaders are Mrs. Navickas and her assistants Mrs. Robert Forde and Mrs. Gerald Honkomp.

Jessica Mitford to Address Women in Action Conference

MILWAUKEE — Fifth annual Women in Action Conference at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee (UWM), Nov. 22 will be addressed by authoress Jessica Mitford. The emphasis will be on action for peace.

Critics in national publications are now analyzing Miss Mitford's new book, popularly known as "The Trial of Dr. Spock." The full title continues, "The Reverend William Sloane Coffin, Jr., Michael Ferber, Mitchell Goodman, and Marcus Raskin," names of the other four co-defendants in the trial. They had been indicted for conspiracy to aid, abet and counsel violations of the Selective Service Act.

The UWM Women's League, sponsor of this year's conference, has enlarged its scope as "Womanpower in Action for Peace." Sensitivity To Peace. Guests at the day-long event in the UWM Union will attend general sessions in the morning and afternoon; forums and small group discussions will reconvene late in the afternoon to present resolutions on behalf of peace.

Miss Mitford, according to the chairman, will refer to her courtroom experiences as reported in her book to inform the audience of the problems that descended upon "five who did speak out for peace." In her book Miss Mitford addresses herself to prospective jurors, proposing that they act according to conscience. She calls the Spock trial political and reflects on issues that resulted from the trial and reached beyond the trial itself.

Her earlier book, "The American Way of Death," also was the center of debate.

Over 70 Ways To Brew Coffee To be Demonstrated

MADISON — How many ways are there to brew coffee? Would you believe something over 70? That's what experts from the Pan-American Coffee Bureau's famous Coffee Brewing Center are going to demonstrate to visitors to the 1969 World Dairy Expo at the Dane County Exposition Center Oct. 3 to 8.

They are part of the cast of 17 nationally known food experts who will be putting on demonstrations in the "Fun With Food" building at Expo. As proof of their brewing ability, they will be serving coffee to all visitors to the food demonstrations. Last year that amounted to more than 15,000 cups.

Merry Makers Will Have Dance

NEENAH — Merry Makers Dance Club will have its annual costume and hard time dance Saturday at the Labor Temple. "Harvest Ball" will be the theme.

Chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kuckenbecker, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Tatro and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Blank.

Brownies Gambol at Adventure Day in Park

The Post-Crescent A 17

Circle Dances Capture the attention of the Brownies during an Adventure Day Saturday at Telulah Park. Joining in the fun with the young girls were their troop leaders and Senior Girl Scouts. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Saturday was a time for games and relay races, for dancing and singing-a-long, for nosebag lunches and nature talks when Brownie Girl Scouts of Appleton gathered from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Telulah Park for Adventure Day.

Supervising the games was Roland Hidde, a physical education instructor for the Appleton Public Schools.

Co-chairmen were Mrs. Lester Muenster and Mrs. Walter Kleman who were assisted by Brownie leaders and Senior Girl Scouts.

Two of the Brownies, above, concentrate on learning a new dance. At left, the girls play a lively game.

Energy Produced by Man Infinitesimal

By ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: The old cliché, "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it," is no longer true. A privileged segment of society, the scientists, are doing something about it and they should be sued for billions.

During the past 20 years the weather patterns of the earth have been drastically altered by excessive numbers of man-made disturbances such as rockets, missiles, bombs and other damned fool objects which have been let loose in space on a perpetual basis. Man's tinkering with the elements of nature have produced hurricanes, floods, tornadoes, blizzards and even earthquakes.

The lives and property of millions of innocent, defenseless people are being jeopardized by these idiots. Someone should call a halt to this dangerous program of weather corruption before civilization is erased from the face of the earth. Please print this and wake up America! — Warren, Ohio

Dear Warren: Meteorological scientists tell us the amount of energy released in the atmosphere by man-made devices is infinitesimal compared to the energy produced by nature.

Historians have recorded violent weather — blizzards, tornadoes, earthquakes, floods and hurricanes as far back as the first written word. Man suffered from destruction of the elements long before "the nutty scientists began to send damned fool things into space." What we can and should do something about is the idiots who are polluting the water and fouling the air. Wake up, America!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is my second marriage and I thank God every night for this wonderful man who rescued me from a living hell and made me whole again. Not only has George been like an angel to me, but he has been wonderful to my two small children.

Although I am in fairly good health I am haunted by the fear that if I should die, my first husband will take the children. He refuses to allow George to adopt them legally — not because he loves them, but because he wants to be obstreperous. He started to beat the children before they were old enough to walk. This was one of the principal reasons I divorced him.

Is there a way out that I do not see? Please help me — Uptight

Dear Up: The lawyer who obtained your divorce is your best bet. See him at once. Perhaps he can give you the peace of mind you seek.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a male, 22, considered good looking and am well built. The problem I'm beginning to lose my hair and I hate the thought of being bald.

I've tried everything from onion juice to sheep dung. Nothing helps. What do you know about hair transplants? Do they work? Does a fellow have to find his own donor or does the doctor do that? Please give me some information. I'm ashamed to talk to anybody — Yul II

Dear Yul: Hair transplants have proven successful. A fellow does not have to find a donor, he's his own donor. The hair is transplanted from the back of his neck to the bald area.

This procedure is not inexpensive and it is time consuming. But for those to whom hair is important, it can be a godsend.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking And Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-

The Changing Dating Game - Part VI Youth in Quest of Action

By Don Hagenruber, Intern Wausau Daily Record-Herald WAUSAU (AP) — Parlor games are passe and an evening on the porch swing is a thing of the past.

Today's youths have sprung from a different mold than did their parents. The availability of the media has given them a sense of awareness that sets them moving in quest of action.

There is no time to sit at home watching TV with the folks because that is not where the action is. The affluence of today's youths, attributable to more jobs and better-off parents, can mean an open door to a fast car and a pocket-full of cash.

More Expenses Incurred
Young persons definitely spend more money on dates than did their parents, and the price is not all water caused by inflation. Dates today mean picking the girl up in a car, walks are no longer in vogue, going to either a dance, movie, or bar, and afterwards stopping off for a hamburger and shake. Dates can run anywhere from three to seven dollars on the average.

For many years, young people on the east and west coasts have refrained from "going steady"—perhaps sensing that being tied down can mean less kicks and excitement in the long run. More informal parties were held and different people dated. This was an unusual occurrence for high schoolers of the Midwest until just a few years ago.

Steadies Not Needed
That trend has changed though. For now as students in this portion of the country near the age of 16 or so, they lose that feeling of dependency that so often forced them to have a steady so that they could be sure to have a date on Friday night.

Youths now seek companionship with comrades of their own sex. Boys of that age refrain from dating girls because they either still think girls are "yucky" or else they have to hold onto their cash in order to buy gasoline for the car. Girls, on the other hand, feel more disposed to playing the field rather than getting tied up with one boy.

Work Available
It sometimes seems that she would rather be the girl picked up by a stranger at a dance, than be the one who is tagged as being out of circulation.

Dates do cost more, and unless dad is willing to "cough up" the coinage, students realize they are forced to resort to a job. Not that that's a big sacrifice, because today's jobs have much more appeal to youth... and there are many more glamorous to a teenager than selling greeting cards door to door or working in an ice house.

Utility Entertainment
With the money youths can accumulate, nearly everything is open to them, but for the most part, movies and dances are still the most popular. These forms of entertainment are favorites because band members and movie stars give some kids a hero-type to identify with or just give them a chance to escape from the world of grades, parents, and serious affairs. They are also popular because there's plenty of utility in entertainment gotten per dollar... something even today's affluent youths are worried about.

OPEN 24 HOURS A DAY!

You'll be Dialing 7 Digits

An estimated 85,569 telephone users in Appleton and eight other Fox Valley communities will begin this month to add two more digits to complete a phone call.

Wisconsin Telephone Company said today that the switch-over from the present five-digit to seven-digit dialing is necessary because increased population growth in the area threatens to overtax company equipment. More busy signals and more wrong numbers being dialed, might result, said Mrs. Irene Witter, manager of the WTC Appleton office.

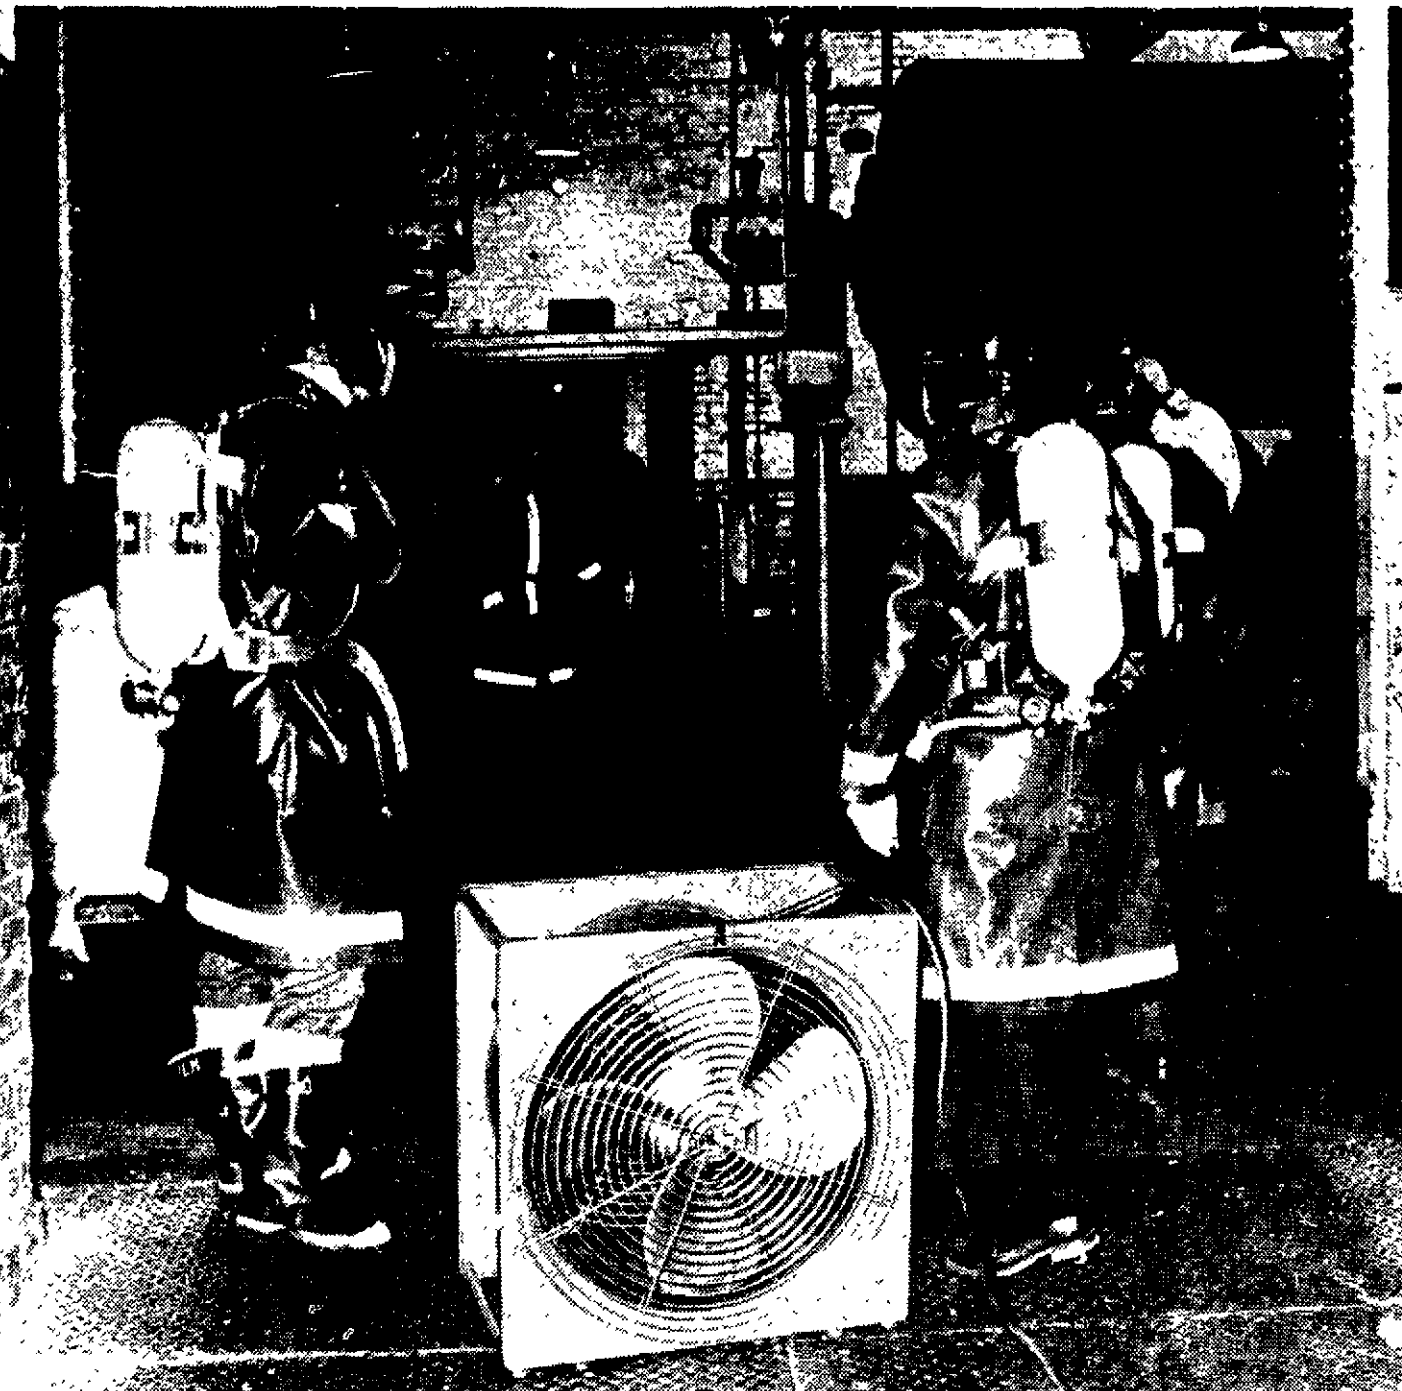

The addition of two digits goes into effect Oct. 19 in Appleton and the other communities.

In Appleton, for example, phone subscribers will dial the prefix "73" along with the present five digits.

Other communities converting to seven-digit dialing and their added prefixes include Neenah-Menasha (72), Kaukauna (76), Greenville (75), and Combined Locks, Freedom, Little Chute and Kimberly, all 78.

Mrs. Witter said that in Appleton alone, the number of phones installed has increased 65 per cent in the last 10 years, with more than 43,000 telephones now in use here.

She said the new digit system will make possible the addition of thousands of new telephones in the Fox Valley in the future, with no necessity to add another exchange to handle the burgeoning number of customers.

County Committee Spurns Delay, Will Proceed With Jail

Unless State Withdraws Its Orders

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Plans for construction of a new Outagamie County jail will proceed until such time the state rescinds its order for the county to correct jail deficiencies.

This was the county board's public properties committee's answer this morning to a request from board chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, to consider delaying plans on the jail. Esler asked the delay in support of Gov. Warren P. Knowles' plea to fight inflation.

Supv. Jerome Hilier, Appleton, committee chairman, said he was "not too receptive to any delay until there is a commitment from the state staying its order." Hilier also indicated the committee probably would not take the first step toward seeking another extension from the state.

Hilier said he did not believe it was the intent of the governor to have this type of construction delayed.

Knowles had asked counties to cooperate in fighting inflation by postponing capital outlay projects wherever possible.

Both Supvs. Sylvester Lenz, Kimberly, and Walter Fredericks, New London, the only members of the committee present, agreed with Hilier.

Esler disagreed. He said the governor could overrule Wilbur Schmidt, secretary of the State Department of Health and Social Services which issued the correction order. "You only have to decide whether you want to go along with the state and federal government," Esler said, referring to the requested construction cutback.

Plans are proceeding for the three-story safety building which would be constructed between the courthouse and annex.

Sauter Seaborn Architects told the committee that plans will be ready for submission to the state for approval between Dec. 15 and Jan. 1. A time table up to the point of advertising for bids will be provided the committee before the Oct. 14 board meeting.

Estimated cost of the facility has been put at $1.4 million. The structure would include the jail, court space and administrative offices for the sheriff's department.

Chlorine Gas Fells Pair of Mill Workers

Both Satisfactory Following Leak at Fox River Paper

Two Fox River Paper Corp. employees were hospitalized late Wednesday afternoon after they inhaled deadly chlorine gas leaking from a broken pipe in the Telulah Mill section.

David Neubert, 24, 5838 N. Richmond St., Appleton, will remain in St. Elizabeth Hospital two or three days, his wife said today. He is in satisfactory condition.

David Peterson, 23, Shiocton, was examined at St. Elizabeth Hospital and released. Both men are machine helpers at the Appleton mill.

They were taken to the hospital about 5:30 p.m. by the fire department rescue squad. They had difficulty breathing.

The gas leak reportedly occurred when a crack opened in a pipe in the beater room. Chlorine is used in a bleaching process at the mill.

Four mill employees who knew the layout of the area and firefighters put on breathing apparatus and entered the mill to shut off the gas line.

Firefighters used smoke ejectors about 40 minutes to clear the building of chlorine fumes.

Portions of the mill reportedly had to be evacuated and several paper making machines had to be shut down until the fumes were cleared.

With a "Come And Get me if you think you're big enough" expression, this sassy, elusive raccoon put his mind to keeping away from three big lawmen who sought to capture him this morning in the 900 block of W. Packard Street. The animal, believed to be someone's runaway pet, was tame, but tame raccoons have a reputation for biting strangers. Patrolmen William Behrent (left) and Gerald Broen (right), along with Conservation Warden Dale Morey, took no chances. They used a long-handled snare to get the raccoon into the garbage can. The animal was taken to an area farm until he is claimed. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Pornography Debate Ends

Council Rejects Book Sellers License

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton's latest debate over pornography is over and a proposal to license dealers selling printed materials is dead, as the results of a 12-6 vote of the city council Wednesday night.

Aldermen defeated the licensing resolution after intense debate. The constitutionality of the measure was questioned along with the ability of aldermen to draw the line between pornographic and acceptable materials.

"I think we can draw the line," said Ald. Edward Maloney (9th), the chief supporter of licensing.

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) disagreed. "I don't think that we are qualified for it," he declared.

Many Subjects

Maloney replied there are many subjects that come before the council on which individual aldermen may lack knowledge. "Individually, none of us is qualified" to make all the decisions required of the council, "but collectively, that's what we are here for, to make these decisions," said Maloney. Maloney said the proposal was intended "to give enforcement power to an ordinance that is on the books," by requiring dealers to promise to obey the ordinance when they apply for licensing.

He said pornography in Appleton is part of "a pattern, even a plan I think" to disrupt society and government in this country by corrupting the minds of the young. He related pornography to violence in cities and on campuses, saying together they form a pattern.

Very Effective

Maloney also presented a letter from Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Robert Warren, who stated he believes "properly drawn licensing or other city ordinances can, if vigorously enforced, be very effective in controlling the spread of pornographic materials within the community."

Warren also warned that attempts at regulation are "fraught with constitutional problems," and he urged Maloney to seek out ordinances that have survived court tests in other communities.

Opponents of the measure pointed out the city has a relatively new ordinance against selling obscene materials to juveniles, which according to City Atty. David Geenan is among the few restrictions that have been upheld in court.

Have Faith

Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) said he shared Maloney's concern but disagreed with his approach.

"We have got to have faith... in our judicial system," said Kalata, adding that the courts are "where we ultimately have got to go" with pornography cases.

Ald. Bruce Stautzman (1st) agreed, pointing out that dealers would still have the option of appealing to the courts if they were charged with violating the licensing measure, so in effect nothing would be changed by adopting it.

Ald. Robert Roemer (8th) said the city licenses Christmas tree dealers, taverns and junk-yards, so he was unable to see why book stores couldn't be licensed.

Be a Deterrent

"We might never have to use it," he said of the provision for revoking or refusing licenses if dealers are found to be selling unacceptable materials. But, he added, "It would be quite a deterrent."

While Roemer argued the ordinance would protect young people both in Appleton and surrounding territory, Ald. William Errington (15th) compared the proposal to prohibiting teenage beer bars in the city. Buyer and seller are only forced out of the city, Errington argued, urging state-wide restrictions instead.

In favor of adoption were Aids. Maloney, Roemer, Polzin (3rd), Stoegebauer (4th), Tews (5th), and Schwarzbauer (10th).

Opposed were Aids. Strutz, Stutzman, Thompson, Ayer (12th), Beyer (20th), Draheim (14th), Errington, Hoolihan (11th), Kalata, Reynolds (7th), Schouten (19th), and Steidl (18th).

Resolution Goes to Board

Plan to Make Courthouse Lawn Parking Lot Revived

The proposal to turn the Outagamie County courthouse lawn into a parking lot is being revived once more.

A resolution to the effect will be submitted to the county board Oct. 14 by its public properties committee at the request of County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler. Members of the Committee this morning indicated they did not necessarily approve of the idea but would present the resolution to get it before the entire board.

At the same time, three more pieces of property have been offered to the county, bringing the total to six lots in the last several months.

The latest parcels are located at 338 W. Seventh St.; 403 W. Eighth St., and 507 N. Walnut St. The first lot is 70 by 92 feet with an asking price of $16,500; the second contains two pieces of land, 100 by 120 feet and 40 by 40 feet for $32,000, and the third is 60 by 80 feet for $14,500.

Previously, three adjoining lots between Sixth and Seventh streets, off Elm Street, were offered for a total of $65,000. Adjoining property owners objected to those plans and no action has been taken by the county.

Esler suggested that the committee recommend buying the three lots but, at the suggestion of Supv. Walter Fredericks, New London, they agreed to look at the property before making any recommendations.

Plans Defeated

Numerous proposals have been made in the past to create a parking lot on the front lawn of the courthouse. All were defeated, however, on the grounds the county would not gain sufficient parking stalls to make it worth while and the esthetic beauty of the courthouse would be destroyed.

Hilier said the latest plan would retain a green strip along the Walnut Street sidewalk and would provide about 16 stalls. In other action, the committee will obtain bids for repair and landscaping of all of the external courthouse steps. The entire building needs to be done, they noted, but the steps are the most critical.

An estimate of $30,000 was given for doing the entire building. Some stone work was done on the parapet at the order of state inspectors who found the stonework to be loose. The entire building was then checked over.

Sympathizers Call

There's Going to be Another 'Punchy'

BLACK CREEK — The five Calkins children will get a new "Punchy."

They buried the first Punchy a week and a half ago. The year-old collie-shepherd dog was the victim of a young hunter's arrow.

An account of Punchy's untimely death was carried in the Sunday Post-Crescent on Sept. 28, along with a photograph of the Calkins children around the grave they dug for him.

Mrs. Philip Calkins said Wednesday that public response to her children's plight has been "tremendous."

The route 2, Black Creek family started receiving telephone calls from sympathizers about 8:45 a.m. Sunday. The calls continued through the day.

One call was from a Menasha man who has a registered, purebred collie. Later Sunday, he brought the female dog out to show the Calkins children. They were promised one of her pups — probably in January.

There were many calls from archers, some of whom noted their affiliations with bow-hunting associations.

They expressed their sympathy and their displeasure over the actions of the 15-year-old Menasha boy who buried an arrow deep into Punchy's shoulders while he was deer hunting near the Calkins home Sept. 21. The boy said he shot the animal because he feared it would attack his companion.

Mrs. Calkins said many of the bowhunters who called "apologized" for the actions of the boy.

She said some of the people called long distance. She also received several letters

"It doesn't bring back Punchy," she said, but it sure gives you a good feeling."

City Employs Professional Negotiator

Hired to Represent Appleton in Employee Labor Negotiations

A retired professional negotiator formerly employed in local industry will represent Appleton in bargaining with city employees, at least through the end of this year.

The city council voted Wednesday to hire Walter Mumme, who in the past has represented the city water department on a similar basis.

He was hired on recommendation of the finance committee at a monthly fee of $162, which was explained as the equivalent of Social Security payments he would lose by being employed, plus $20 per hour during actual bargaining sessions.

Hired Temporarily

Ald. Alvin Tews, finance chairman explained that the committee felt a professional negotiator should be hired temporarily due to the resignation of Jerome Rusch as personnel director. Rusch began work as personnel director for the city of LaCrosse Wednesday.

A permanent replacement is still being sought, with interviews scheduled for Saturday, Tews said. But even if a man is hired soon, it is uncertain when he would be able to assume the full burden of negotiating for the city. Thus, Mumme, who has experience in representing one department of the city, was chosen to fill the gap and advise the new director if necessary.

Three of the 18 aldermen present voted against the temporary measure.

Not the Answer

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) said he is currently in negotiations in his private job and he added, "I do not feel that the professional negotiators are the

1970 Forecast

Winnebago Welfare Cost Could Reach $6.2 Million

OSHKOSH — An operating county's share of the money, state and federal monies, total $3,537,600, of which the county taxpayers will contribute $816,400. This year, medical aid assistance is $3,120,000 of which $725,000 is paid by the county.

"Although the cost of Medical Aid Assistance programs will rise in 1970, the increase will not be as great as in past years due to a shift of some nursing care to Old Age Assistance, and a reduction in Group Two medical assistance due to restrictions applied by the State Legislature," Norman Whitford, welfare director, said.

Youth Gets 20 Years for Robbery

NEENAH — An 18-year-old Appleton youth Wednesday was sentenced to 20 years in the Wisconsin State Reformatory at Green Bay for the Aug. 24 armed robbery of a Consolidated Service station west of Oshkosh.

Thomas S. Masaros, 18, 3000 W. Wisconsin Ave., who pleaded guilty to the charge was sentenced by Judge James V. Sitter in County Court, Branch 3 here Wednesday afternoon.

The youth, who was being held under $2,500 bond in the county jail since the robbery, appeared in court with his attorney, Jerome Bomier, Neenah.

Conviction of armed robbery carries a maximum penalty of not more than 30 years in the state prison.

Masaros will be eligible for parole after serving one year in the reformatory.

The Appleton youth robbed the service station located on U.S. 41 at about 3 a.m. on Aug. 24 and was arrested by sheriff's officers only 40 minutes after the holdup.

Patrick Thornton, Oshkosh, was the lone night attendant on duty at the time of the holdup. He testified at the defendant's preliminary hearing that Masaros drove into the station, parked his car and entered the station office.

Masaros pulled out a .32 caliber pistol and demanded money from Thornton.

The attendant placed $261 in cash on his desk and Masaros grabbed the money and fled the station. Thornton alerted authorities and furnished a description of Masaros and his vehicle.

Masaros was arrested on County Trunk 8 in the Town of Neenah. The pistol and $256 of the money was found by the officers under the passenger seat in the car.

Two Teen-Agers Hurt When Car Tips Over After Landing in Ditch

Two teen-agers were hurt when the car they were in tipped over along Outagamie County Trunk KK, a mile east of Appleton, about 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The car was driven by Kenneth R. Cummings, 16, route 4, who was westbound when he lost control of the vehicle which went into a ditch and rolled over.

His passengers, David Miller, 15, 110 Daniel Court, Combined Locks, suffered cuts to his neck and head, and Ronald Boehnlein, 16, route 4, suffered right hand cuts. The car was demolished.

Sewer Plans Top Priority in Neenah

NEENAH — An updated capital improvement program which places a high priority on sewer construction and clear water separation and sets the stage for downtown redevelopment has been compiled by Mayor Donald Hassler.

The long-range financial plan spreads $20.5 million in capital spending over the next seven years at an average tax rate increase of just under 6 per cent.

Hassler, explaining his report today said, "I've tried to put the priorities where they belong."

Plans for Airport Parking Attacked in Winnebago

OSHKOSH — The restaurant operator at Wittman Field Wednesday afternoon vehemently objected to a proposal for controlled parking at the airport saying his business would be in jeopardy if the parking plan was instituted.

A total of $886,500 has been earmarked for 1970 to construct new storm and sanitary sewers plus clean up existing lines. This is about 40 per cent more than was scheduled for next year.

7 1/2 Per Cent The mayor pointed out that a 7 1/2 per cent increase in the city departmental operating budgets was the goal this year. This has dropped from the 10 per cent target a year ago.

"If I didn't think we could make it — it wouldn't be in there," Hassler said, pointing to his 7 1/2 per cent guideline for the city departments and 10 per cent for the schools.

"We are confronted with ambitious requests from some of the departments," he said, "but these will have to be brought down to earth."

Wednesday the city released the police department demands, the redevelopment authority approved a comprehensive plan now being prepared.

The additional $419,000 which would be needed could be financed through special appropriations and bond issues and would not affect the 1970 projections.

Neenah Man New Head of Menominee Enterprises

MENASHA — A 56-year-old Neenah resident, well-known in the lumber and paper industry throughout the Midwest, has been named president of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., of Neopit.

Thomas R. Powell, 208 Adella Beach, took over the new post Wednesday and will devote full-time to the new job, leaving the consulting service he founded in 1966 in Neenah, Powell Public Affairs Service.

Powell, a native of Vernon, British Columbia, has been involved in the timber and lumber industry since he graduated from the University of Toronto in 1937 with a bachelor of scientific forestry degree.

Powell also excelled in athletics in college, where he became Canadian Intercollegiate welterweight boxing champion.

K-C Subsidiary He went to work with a Kimberly - Clark subsidiary, the North Star Timber Co., of Duluth, Minn., and became manager there in 1948.

He became a naturalized U.S. citizen in 1954, and soon after became director of the Lake States Woodlands operations in Duluth.

He was transferred to Neenah in 1959, where he became Woodlands' administrative assistant. In 1963, he became public affairs coordinator for Kimberly-Clark.

Powell established his own timber consulting service in 1966, and provided services to the Wisconsin Timber Producers' Association, a state organization, several forest-based industries and town governments.

The services included keeping up to date on legislation affecting the industry and maintaining liaison with various governmental agencies associated with the timber industry.

He also advised on the purchase and sale of forest industry property.

Menominee Enterprises, Inc., is an organization formed by Menominee County Indians. It includes a lumber mill and other forestry operations and is also involved in the industrial and residential development of the county.

Powell has a wife, Audrey, and two married sons, Allen, a forester for the state of Minnesota, and John, Neenah, who is involved in social work.

Kaukauna Asks Expressways Not Divide City

COG Committee Warned of Objection To No Access Plan

The proposed expressways for the Fox Cities must not hinder travel within a community, Kaukauna's public works director said Tuesday.

Robert Natrop made it clear at a Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) transportation technical advisory committee meeting that he would oppose having certain portions of Kaukauna separated by no access expressway.

Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County highway commissioner and committee chairman, assured this would be considered and suggested that overpasses or underpasses would be possible.

However, he also noted that it is important that a minimum of access be allowed to facilitate travel on the expressways, which will connect the Fox Cities.

Right-of-Ways

Natrop's opposition came as the committee discussed purchasing the rest of the right-of-way for the 32 miles of expressway. The State 55 expressway is the one going through Kaukauna, actually between Kaukauna and Combined Locks, running from County Trunk KK at the Calumet County line north to County Trunk JJ and 55.

Brownson said right-of-way purchases must be stepped up because development is pushing up land prices. All of the six-mile State 55 expressway area must be purchased, and nearly all of the Tri-County Expressway which runs from Twin Cities east to Calumet and north along Speel and French roads to U.S. 41.

The E. College Avenue expressway is under construction and set to be completed next summer.

All three expressways often have been referred to as the Tri-County Expressway, although committee members consider them separate.

Man Charged With Firing Gun in Air

Court proceedings against a 22-year-old Appleton man whom authorities allege threatened his wife and later fired a shot near her Kaukauna home, have been continued to Friday afternoon.

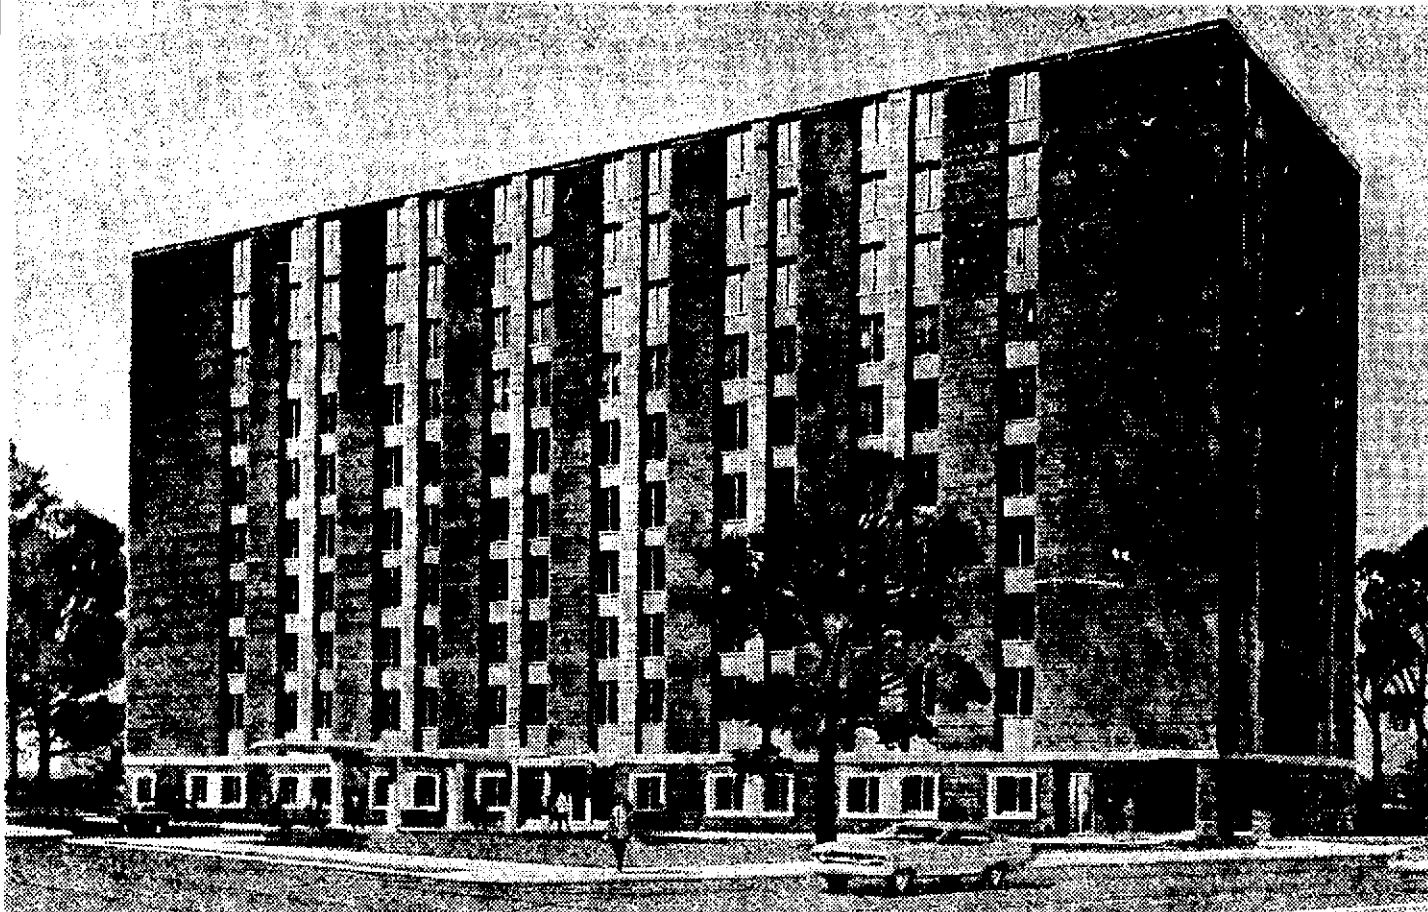

Kevin Forster, 603 E. Fremont St., was charged with making an annoying telephone call to his wife and with disorderly conduct in connection with allegedly firing the shot.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer set bond at $200 on each count. He continued the case to allow Forster time to consult an attorney. Forster appeared in court this morning in handcuffs.

He became the object of a search about 11 p.m. Wednesday after he allegedly fired one shot near the home of his estranged wife in Kaukauna. He then sped away in his auto. An alert was aired to all police agencies in the county and surrounding areas.

An Appleton patrolman stopped Forster's car for speeding on E. Calumet Street, near E. John Street, about 11:20 p.m. Forster then was taken to jail, and his car was impounded.

Police said he was not armed when he was apprehended.

Fond du Lac's New Low-rent apartments for the elderly have attracted interest among Appleton groups. The formal open house at the new high-rise structure shown here will be attended Sunday by a group of elderly persons sponsored by the Appleton American Legion post, which is interested in developing similar facilities in Appleton for senior citizens with moderate incomes. Meanwhile, the Appleton Housing Authority has accepted proposals to build a structure of similar design here for the low-income elderly. Hutter Construction Co., Fond du Lac, is the developer in both cases.

Resolution Is Shelved

City Negotiations for Courthouse Die Quietly

Aldermen have disposed of the last remains of city-county negotiations on use of courthouse space by the city.

Without discussion Wednesday night the city council accepted a report from the board of public works shelving a resolution of referring to buy the courthouse for city use.

Ald. John Ayers (12th) had submitted the proposal after concluding that negotiations on earlier suggestions were hopelessly bogged down.

Purchase Suggested

Ayers had almost single-handedly kept negotiations alive from the city's end, first attempting to work out a joint construction agreement to add a safety building to the present courthouse, to be occupied by county and city departments. Later, a leasing arrangement was offered by the county, but at rates Ayers considered excessive.

Buying the courthouse, he suggested, would preserve the city's comprehensive planning concepts for the neighborhood while allowing the city to vacate its present city hall and police station to provide downtown development opportunities.

No Hearing

Citizens who had gathered for a public hearing on a proposal to erase proposed N. Drew Street right-of-way from the official city map left the council chamber without being heard, after Ald. Orville Strutz (17th) used his right to refer the proposal back to the plans commission for more consideration. The bulk of correspondence from citizens favoring for more consideration. The bulk of correspondence from citizens favoring or opposing the measure prompted his request, Strutz said.

Mayor George Buckley withdrew a recommendation to appoint Joseph Schoenhaar supervisor of the electrical department. Ald. John Steidl (18th) pointed out Schoenhaar is currently a union member in his capacity as electrical inspector, and asked whether he would have to drop membership if been re-annexed after the first, elevated to a supervisory post. Buckley who stressed the title would lack added salary benefits, withdrew after Ald. George Schwarzbauer (10th) suggested someone should ask if the inspector wanted the "honorary title."

Property Rezoned

Parcels east of Ballard Road on Northland Avenue, known as the Timmers, Bissing and Behle-Coenen properties were re-zoned from single family residential to general commercial class. All are in land annexed with the north side Langedyke Park property, and had been zoned commercial before but the land has recently

St. Norbert Alumni Oppose Changing Name of College

WEST DE PERE — The board of directors of the St. Norbert College Alumni Association has unanimously voted to oppose any change in the name of the college.

Their action was prompted by a recent faculty vote to study a possible name change.

In a letter to Dr. Robert E. Christin, president of the college, Herbert Hoelt, president of the alumni association, said the board was "genuinely concerned over the recent action of the faculty to consider the question of changing the name of the college."

Endorse Opposition

Hoelt said that all members of the board had received inquiries concerning the name change. "Almost all of those alumni voicing opinions indicated they were in favor of retaining the present name of the college," he said in the letter.

Hoelt said that the board of directors endorsed Dr. Christin's recent statement opposing changing the names of the college.

"We, too, find the name satisfactory and do not think changing it will impress people who have not heard of the college. We, too, are convinced that St. Norbert College can be a leader in introducing academic innovations appropriate to 1970's and by doing this will become well known around the country as St. Norbert College," Hoelt's letter said.

Festivities Begin With Parade

It's Homecoming Time at Xavier

Homecoming activities for Xavier High School will begin with the judging of class and club floats at 4 p.m. Friday, followed by a parade down College Avenue at about 5:30 p.m.

After the parade the students will return to school for a pep rally, when the winning floats will be announced and prizes will be awarded.

At 8 p.m. the Xavier Hawks will meet the St. Mary Menasha Zephyrs at Goodland Field. The homecoming queen will be chosen by lot and announced at half time.

A sock hop for the underclassmen has been scheduled after the game in the Xavier gym. The homecoming dance itself, however, will be Saturday in the commons, with the theme, "A Time for Us," from Romeo and Juliet. It will feature the group, the Beggars Opera.

City Employs Professional Negotiator

answer to the problems in the labor movement."

Ald. William Errington (15th), said hiring a temporary negotiator would cause the city to be lax in finding a permanent director. The third alderman voting in opposition, Arthur Hoolihan (11th) didn't offer an explanation.

The council also accepted, without debate, a finance committee recommendation assigning supervision of the personnel director's office clerk to the city attorney until the new director is hired.

What city official should supervise the office had been a bitter topic when the director's resignation was announced. The vote Wednesday quietly closed the subject.

Chairmen Named
Overall chairman for the weekend is Dan Coenen. The dance committee heads are Mary Toppins, court; Joan Wallace, tickets; Mary Jo Garvey, dance organization and decorations; Nancy Rickert, chaperones; Lynn Luek, servers; Mary Wuerch, refreshments; and Katie Gage, clean-up.

Bruce Meiers is in charge of the homecoming court and queen selection. The court consists of Kathy Connolly, a senior class officer; Barbara Hass, Sandy Fischer, and Barbara Schultz, cheerleaders; and Betsy Koller, student council secretary.

The floats and the parade are under the direction of Michelle Martin. Tim Reich and Judy Konz will be in charge of the pep rally.

Carol Burnett Stirs Action With Nabors

BY TV SCOUT

7-8 Channel 2-7 — The Jim Nabors Hour has another very funny show with Carol Burnett, the guest. She is hysterical in two skits: in one she is the wife of The Lone Ranger, very upset because her husband (Jim) keeps running around with Tom (Ronnie Schell); in the other she is a lady baseball player, in love with the team's star pitcher, but having a problem because word is around that there is a female on the team. There's a great twist ending here. Jim sings "Down in the Valley," there is a "Brothers-in-Law" skit and Frank Sutton demonstrates the art of being a quick draw gunfighter.

8-9 Channel 11-9 — Sultry Diahann Carroll gets a chance to smolder on This Is Tom Jones as she sings four songs then joins Tom for "I Love You More Today Than Yesterday." Bob Darin (he's no longer Bobby) does "Distraction" and Blood, Sweat & Tears do their pretty "Spinning Wheel."

7:30-8:30 Channel 5 — The Ironside gang is in one of those small towns ruled by a ruthless sheriff who has a great swindle going. What it is is not revealed until well into the story. But it concerns the road gang escapee who has kidnaped Ed and the Ironside van, and who has a tale of horror to tell.

7-7:30 Channel 11-9 — Mario Thomas is coerced into directing an amateur production on That Girl, and it gives her quite a dilemma. Her father assumes that he will get the leading role, but at the auditions another man proves to be quite a good actor.

8-10 Channel 2-7 — The Thursday Night Movies has "The Sandpiper," which had pretensions but never realized them. It does star Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and Eva Marie Saint and the beautiful scenery of California's Monterey Peninsula, and it does have "The Shadow of Your Smile" for the theme.

9-10 Channel 5 — The Dean Martin Show welcomes talented Caterina Valente; Sebastian Cabot, who instructs Dean in the art of appreciating wine. Bob Newhart, who joins Dean for a skit based on an incident that really happened in California.

9-10 Channels 11-9 — It Takes a Thief has several things in its favor. A good story with suspense, the beautiful scenery of Porto Ercole, Italy, where it was filmed, Peter Sellers in a cameo role, and three unknown-to-Americans Italian actresses to add to the natural beauty. The story is about some "hot" plutonium and the three people who think Robert Wagner has it. They want it at any price — $2 million or murder.

6:30-7:30 Channel 5 — The bulk of Daniel Boone belongs to Darby Hinton, as Israel, and young George Spell, as the son of an injured escaping slave. The two boys are thrown together, with Darby very cleverly leading the black tyke to safety (up to a point) because Boone is off hunting and his friend Ben (Warren Vanders) must find him.

Glad You Asked That!

BY HY GARDNER

Q: Why was a recent atom bomb scare in Las Vegas hushed up? Aren't the casinos still shaking? — Len Golder, Memphis.

Neither the casinos nor the gamblers were shook up. An F-111A fighter bomber from Nellis AFB accidentally dropped a dummy bomb in North Las Vegas. It landed in a trailer camp and caused little property damage, no injuries. Only things hurt were the feelings of the airmen.

Q: When Glen Campbell was on the Joey Bishop show he said he had four children, but you only read about three in the magazines. Did I hear right? — Mrs. S. Heaten, Anderson, S.C.

A: You certainly did. The fan mags probably write only about the three children of his present marriage to Bill Nunnley of Albuquerque, N.M. — Kelli, 7, Travis, 3, and Wesley Kane, born last February. The Campbell overlooked is daughter Debra, 13, offspring from a previous marriage.

Q: They're talking about a gimmick some fleet owners devised to help keep the drivers honest. The back seats of some cabs are wired to the meter. The moment a passenger sits down, the meter automatically starts running. When he gets out, the cabbie stops the meter immediately. Otherwise, it would start clicking again and he'd be stuck with a non-existent fare.

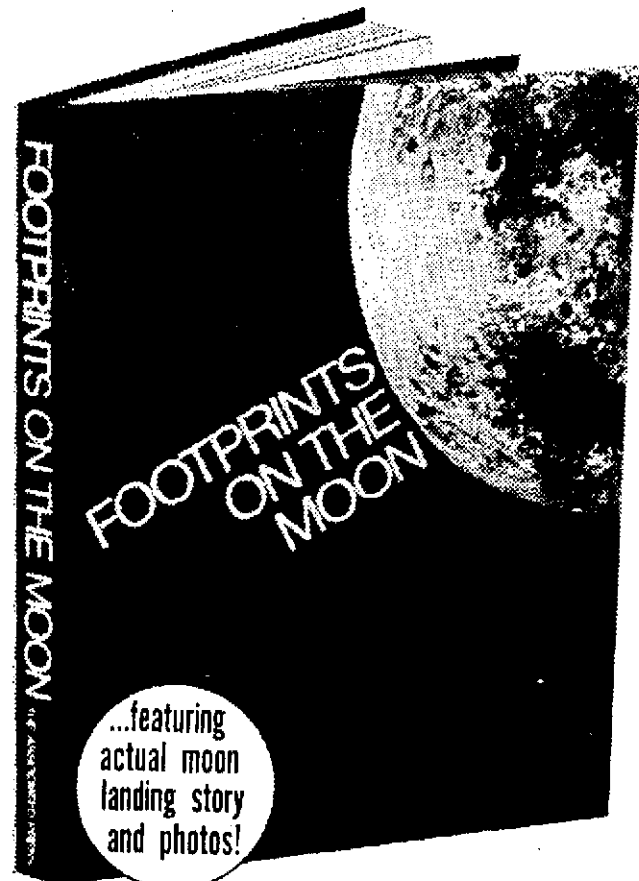

Q: Whatever happened to Pittsburgh.

onetime heavyweight champion Max Schmeling, who was supposed to have been the light in Hitler's eye? — B. L., Pensacola, Fla.

A: Schmeling, now 64 years old, works in Hamburg as a promotion man for a beverage firm — the soft, not the hard, variety.

Q: How will the cigarette companies make up for probable sales losses if and when their commercials are taken off TV — John Miller, Omaha.

A: Several manufacturers wisely subsidized some prosperous dog and cat food firms. The insatiable appetites of reigning cats and dogs have made this a near-billion-dollar-a-year industry. And that doesn't include Doggie Bags.

Senate Backs Lorge's Call for Riot Study

MADISON — A joint resolution to create a committee on riots and civil disorders sponsored by Sen. Gerald Lorge (R-Bear Creek) passed the Wisconsin Senate today.

"The entire problem of protecting state property from invasion and destruction by groups such as that unruly mob which invaded the Wisconsin Assembly on Monday needs a complete and thorough study," Lorge said.

The bi-partisan committee would be composed of legislative leaders of both houses of the Legislature. The governor and attorney general would be members of the committee.

The committee Sen. Lorge said, is charged with making a study of existing laws, both state and federal, as well as rules of the Legislature and administrative rules of the executive agencies of the state as they relate to the protection of public property.

"It is imperative that we do not have a repetition of the irresponsible mob action which occurred on Monday and successfully thwarted the orderly process of Legislative function."

"Following its study," Lorge concluded, "the committee is instructed to make recommendations, including suggested legislation, necessary to protect the public interest of the people of Wisconsin, and to prevent, if possible, a recurrence of mass lawlessness with resulting damage to public property."

The joint resolution has been sent to the Assembly for action.

DJI Nearing Yearly Low

Investors Still Wait on Sidelines Of Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Most stocks drifted down this afternoon toward a point that some analysts believe may be a new yearly low for the Dow Jones industrial average.

The DJI at noon slid to 803.6, off 3.83.

Declines led advances by better than 200 issues in slow trading, as brokers noted that many investors continued to sit on the sidelines waiting for a test of the 800 DJI level.

The DJI low for the year was set at 801.96 July 29. Since then the market has been fluctuating between the 800 and 840 DJI levels and has assaulted the 840 level three times in an effort to break out.

One analyst points out that "if the 800 DJI level should be broken, it could have a further adverse emotional effect on the market."

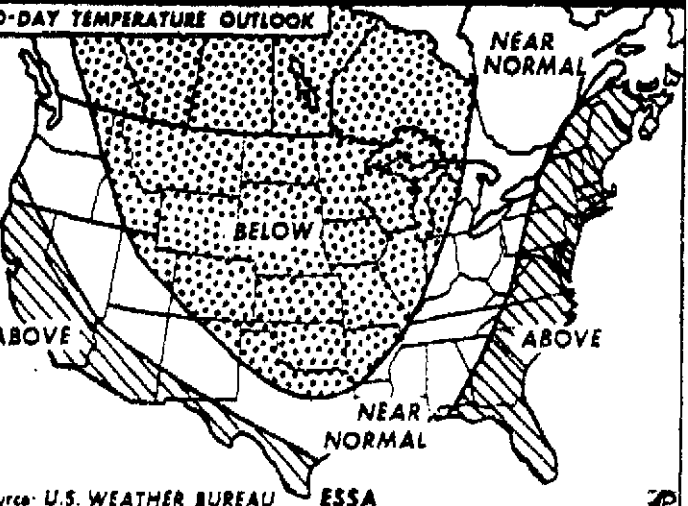

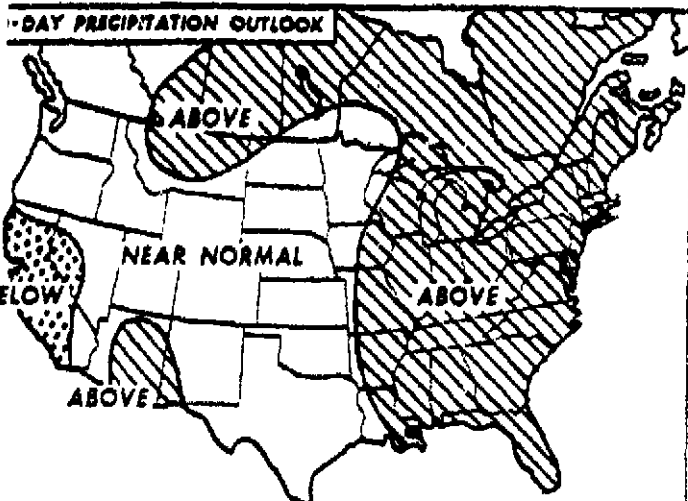

"It would no doubt bring a flurry of additional selling from discouraged investors," he added. "However, if the market holds at the 800 DJI level, bargain hunters would begin buying, and we would undoubtedly see the market emerge from the test much stronger."

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon pressed to 282.3, off .9, with industrials off 1.2, rails off .7, and utilities off .2.

Steels, rubber issues, aircrafts, electronics, utilities, rails and drugs were mostly off in midday trading. Motors, metals, oils and airlines were mixed. Chemicals were mostly up.

Texaco topped the list of the Big Board's 20 most-active issues at 30 1/2, up 1/2 on 62,900 issues in early trading.

Other prices of active issues: Clark Equipment 30 1/2, off 1; General Cable 19 1/2, up 1; Natoms 91 1/4, up 1 1/2; Atlantic Richfield 99 1/2, up 3/4; and Stokely Van Camp 30 1/2, up 3/4.

Anticipated Temperature and Precipitation levels for the next 30 days are indicated on these maps, released by the U.S. Weather Bureau. (AP Wirephoto Maps)

Police Check Further On Junior High Boys Suspected of Burglary

Three junior high school boys are scheduled to be questioned further about a burglary Tuesday night at Holz's Sewing and Fabric Center, 1421 N. Richmond St.

Appleton police, who learned of the burglary Wednesday morning, were told that $85.50 was taken from a cash register and another $3 or $4 were taken from a small box at the rear of the store. Entry was gained by forcing a rear door.

At 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, detectives notified that the boys admitted to officials of their junior high school that they had entered the store. The boys were questioned after they were observed giving away money on the school grounds. The boys were not placed in detention.

Fire Control Chief Retires

Neil LeMay Had Total of 38 Years With Department

MADISON — Wisconsin's outstanding fire protection program is closely linked with the career of Neil H. LeMay, who ended 38 years with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on Sept. 30.

LeMay 65, has been simultaneously based at Tomahawk, where he kept his residence, and at Madison, as director of the Bureau of Fire Control. He is the department's last chief ranger to serve as a line officer.

His successor, Acting Director A. E. Ehly, will be based at DNR headquarters in Madison.

New Equipment

During his nearly four decades with the department, LeMay saw Wisconsin's forest fire equipment evolve from hand tools and horse-drawn plows to apparatus ranging from trucks and airplanes to trail pumps and mobilized radio units.

He promoted the introduction and modification of mechanized equipment, even helped develop a plow to cut firebreaks around burning areas. LeMay also directed that water tanks and pumps be attached to every tractor and truck used in front-line fire-fighting units.

A native of northern Wisconsin (Cleveland, Chippewa County), LeMay knew that northern counties were the principal battleground in fire control, and operated the program primarily from his office in Tomahawk. The Madison headquarters of DNR was continually staffed, however, by LeMay or one of his principal assistants.

Grease Fire Is Out When Firemen Arrive

Grease ignited in the broiler of an oven, bringing Appleton firefighters to an apartment at 202 1/2 E. North St. about 6:10 p.m. Wednesday. The fire was out when the fire department arrived. A small grass fire was reported in the 700 block of E. Roeland Avenue about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Consumer Complaint

Letter to Government Can be Very Powerful

BY ARTHUR E. ROWSE

CONSUMER CONTRACT

WASHINGTON — Are you a person who thinks it is useless to send a complaint to a government agency because either no one will read your letter or no action will result even if the complaint is honored?

If so, I've got news for you. You're wrong.

It is not easy, of course, to make your voice count in this age of computer letters, transcribed messages and automated billing. But it is not as difficult as many people think.

This is really the point that is coming out of Congressional hearings and administrative reports bearing on citizen involvement in the process of government regulatory activities.

Kennedy Hearings

Testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and procedure, headed by Sen. Edward Kennedy, revealed much disagreement as to whether citizen views are considered adequately by three government agencies in reaching decisions.

But responses to Kennedy's questionnaire and remarks by agency members at hearings indicate that it is possible for one person and one letter to accomplish a great deal even when that person is representing no one but himself.

Information in one letter has caused the Federal Communications Commission to hold up renewal of multi-million-dollar television licenses. Letters also form the basis of most Federal Trade Commission actions.

What's The Use?

Few people, however, know where to send complaints, so they often wind up their own case with a shrug of the shoulders or a remark such as: "What's the use?"

These people don't realize the attention they can get with a serious, informative letter. And they don't realize how much government workers struggle to respond to letters. They don't realize, for example, that every letter to a federal agency receives a reply of some kind.

Replies, of course, are not always helpful. But most of them are sincere efforts to respond in a helpful way. Members of Congress see to it that individuals are treated properly. In fact, some people get faster and better results by writing first to their senator or representative.

Letters from private citizens which are forwarded to government departments by members of Congress receive special handling. Many agencies require employees to handle Congressional requests within 24 hours.

Dealer First

Consumers with serious problems with products or services should first try to get satisfaction from the person or organization on the selling end of the transaction. Often, this will work.

When all else fails, however, a letter to the appropriate government agency should be considered. If you don't know which agency to contact, and it is a matter of possible fraud, write to your county attorney or state attorney general, with a copy to your state legislator.

If the matter appears to involve a law violation that extends across state lines, a federal agency may be more appropriate. If you suspect mail fraud, contact your local postmaster.

If you are not sure where to write, send the letter to Mrs. Virginia Knauer, President's Committee on Consumer Interests, Federal Office Building No. 7, Washington, D.C., 20506. Her office will forward it to the right agency and you will receive a reply. Send a copy to your senator or representative.

Xavier High School's 1969 Hawks, who are majoring in the narrow victory, face their next football examination Friday night at Goodland Field.

Menasha St. Mary represents this week's problem for the Hawks — and it could be a challenging one, outward appearances notwithstanding. An expected large crowd of Xavier Homecomingers (and Zephyr visitors) will surround the 100-yard "laboratory" to see how the football-playing scholars make out in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference test.

Despite the winless nature of the Zephyrs 1969 record, Jerry Schmidt, Xavier's new professor of football-ology, will make sure the undefeated Hawks do their pre-game homework thoroughly. For St. Mary has given Xavier more trouble in football than any other team.

The Zephyrs downed Xavier in each of the last two years — to become the only team to beat the Gene (Torchy) Clark-coached Hawks twice in a row — and they're also the only school to hold a total of three grid decisions over XHS. The Hawks, under Clark, beat the Zephyrs five times.

Pennings vs. Premontre
While Xavier puts its 3-0 league record on the line against the Zephyrs, unbeaten De Pere Pennings (2-0) duels Green Bay Premontre (2-1) in the weekend's other FVCC feature.

The game at Premontre is set for Saturday afternoon, as is the Manitowoc Roncalli-Little Chute St. John tussle. Saturday night, Oshkosh Lourdes invades Fond du Lac Springs.

Clutch-playing Xavier has outlasted three league foes, each by a margin of a touchdown or less. In the Hawks' win over Roncalli (22-18) and Lourdes (14-8), the game wasn't decided until the very last play. And, in the opener, a game against Premontre, Xavier staved off a threat in the final minute to preserve the win. Premontre and Roncalli rank among the foremost title contenders.

Xavier tied Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, 8-8, in its non-league opener — and thus owns a 3-0-1 mark, overall.

St. Mary has lost to Roncalli (34-0) and Marinette Central (32-6) in FVCC play, and has bowed to Kenosha St. Joseph and tied Weyauwega in non-loop action — for an over-all 0-3-1 record.

Despite its unbeaten status, Xavier has actually yielded more yardage than it has gained — a difference of seven yards. The Hawks are averaging 22.3 yards per league game while giving up 224.6. St. Mary has gained an average of 121.5 yards in league play while yielding 357.

Xavier's Ted Wenning owns the best passing percentage in the league — .638 — and has completed 16 of 26 for 253 yards. His batterymate, Nick Heinritz, leads all receivers, with eight catches for 148 yards and two touchdowns. Ed Wenning, Ted's brother, has speared four passes, and three of them have gone for TDs.

Schmidt lauded Ted Wenning's passing, and the protection his teammates accorded him, in the Roncalli game. He also cited the defense for making the 22-point total that Xavier scored in the second period up for the win.

Mark Kaminsky, a junior and a newcomer as a starting linebacker, was credited with 17 tackles against the Jets. Other juniors who responded with top efforts in their first big chances were Jeff Nack, who relieved Gary Nack when an injury sidelined him for a time; and Reed Polzin who took over for Jim Erchul at fullback. Erchul played only on defense last Saturday.

St. Mary's Chuck Johnson, who set up his team's only score against Marinette with an interception, has done well in the passing department — with 13 completions in 29 tries, for 93 yards.

Kapp Chosen NFL's Top Offensive Man

Turns Boos Into Cheers With 7 Scoring Passes

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — When people talk about the Minnesota Vikings they usually start with the phrase: "If they only had a quarterback..."

Joe Kapp's record-tying seven touchdown passes Sunday, equalling the feats of Sid Luckman, Y.A. Tittle and Adrian Burk, moved him back in front of Gary Cuozzo, who played while Kapp rode the bench in the opener at New York.

Kapp's performance made him a sure thing for The Associated Press nomination as Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Boos usually greet Kapp but there was a standing ovation of cheers when he finished his day's work against Baltimore with a 52-14 win. To Joe, a tough, tough man with the face of a street fighter, it was a most welcome sound.

Cracked Bone
Kapp left the game in the third quarter with a cracked bone in his left wrist, a souvenir of a meeting with Bubba Smith, who was kept off his back most of the day by tackle Doug Davis.

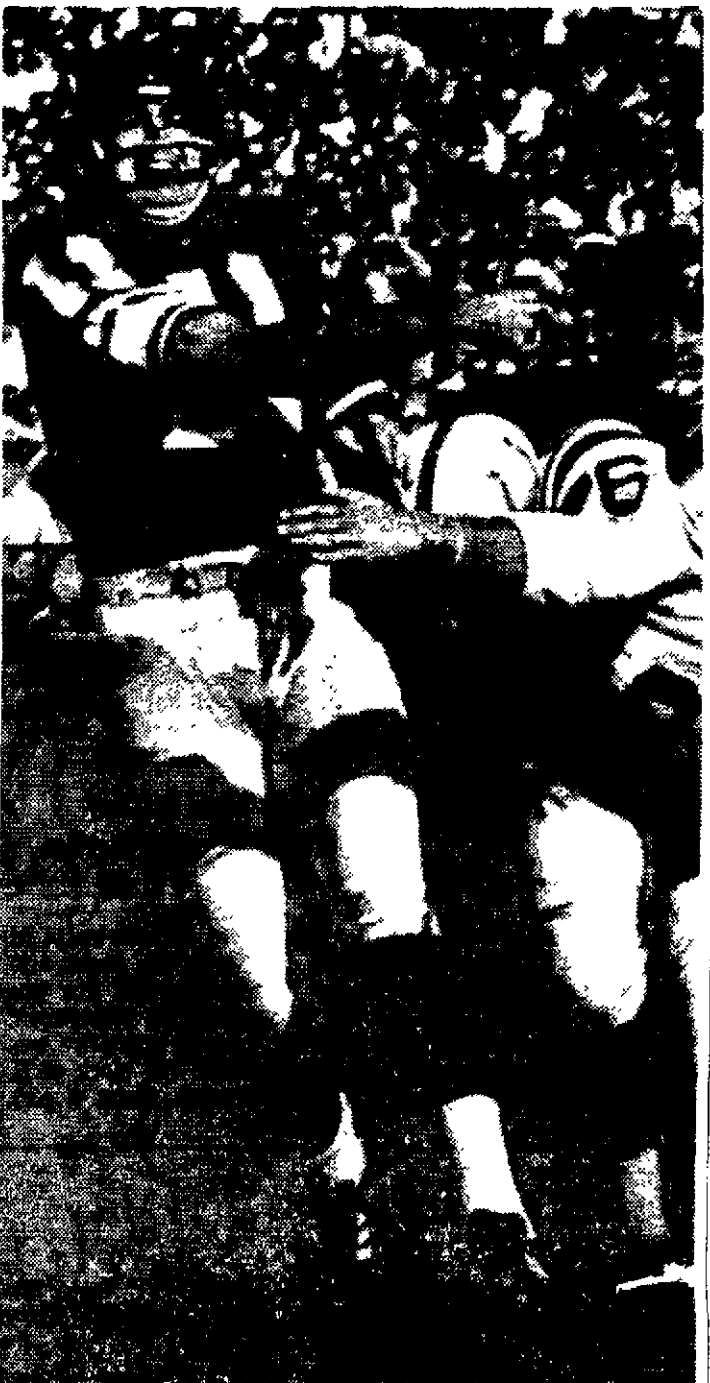

When it was realized that Kapp, who had thrown six touchdown passes, needed only five yards to break Fran Tarkenton's Viking record of 407 yards, Kapp went back in. Once the record was broken he came out again but Cuozzo suffered a broken nose on the third play.

As a result, Kapp went back and got TD No. 7, a 15-yard pass to Jim Lindsey.

"It's a fun game, gentlemen," Kapp told the newsmen.

"You try just as hard every time but some days it all drops into place. Today everything worked."

Devastating Quartet Have to be Mentally Ready for Front Four Of Vikings, Says Starr

By LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The quarterback, master scrambler, Francis Tarkenton recently observed, no longer is the controlling force of a pro football game.

That distinction, the New York Giants' field general said, now belongs to the front four.

Bart Starr, the thinking man's quarterback, conceded that Francis may have a point.

"I think that when a defense can be as dominant as the Vikings' was against the Colts last week," Bart said during a brief lunch break Wednesday.

"he might well be right."

Offensive Line
Tarkenton's theory will be subjected to the supreme test in Minneapolis Sunday afternoon. Starr, the consummate quarterback, will be pitted against the Vikings' devastating front four — Carl Eller, Alan Page, Gary Larsen and Jim Marshall — in a classic confrontation.

Starr, of course, will have assistance in this project from the Pack's highly competent

It could be a little bit like "out of the frying pan and into the fire" for the Neenah and Appleton East football teams, but Appleton West rates at least an even chance of getting into the victory column for the first time in Fox River Valley Conference clashes Saturday afternoon.

If there is any advantage in playing before a home crowd in football, then both the Rockets and Patriots will have it and need it when they run up against two of the conference's three unbeaten squads.

Coach Ben Meixl's outfit, now 2-2 after absorbing a 33-12 loss at Green Bay West, entertains Green Bay East's Red Devils (4-0), while Del Prust's charges play host to tough No. 2-ranked Fond du Lac (4-0) after taking a 33-6 licking at Sheboygan North.

Both Try to Rebound

The Terrors, meantime, journey to Sheboygan South in a battle between two clubs which have yet to win any of their first four outings. Paul Engen's crew will be trying to rebound from a 36-0 defeat to No. 1-rated Oshkosh, and the Redmen are looking to get off the deck from a 56-0 rout by Fondy.

In other pairings Friday night, North (3-1) challenges the might of Oshkosh (4-0) on the Indians' field; Manitowoc (1-3) goes to Green Bay Southwest (1-3), and Green Bay West (2-2) visits Preble (3-1).

If Neenah hopes to dump GBE and stay in the thick of the first division, then the Rockets will have to prove tougher against the run this week than they did last week.

The Green Bay West duo of Don Tieman (now the league's leading rusher) and Bill Mommaerts racked up 312 yards between them against Neenah, and the Devils, too, can boast of a good 1-2 punch in Bob Joepeck and Tom Green.

Joepeck, who picked up 116 yards in nine carries in East's 29-0 romp over Preble last week, currently ranks fifth in FVCC rushing with 282 yards in 56 carries, and quarterback Green, is 10th with 218 yards in 35 attempts.

Green is also a capable passer as shown by his nine completions in 21 attempts for 113 yards.

While East tends to stress its ground attack, Neenah can boast a more balanced assault. Quarterback Tim Acheson has thrown 52 times and completed 23 for 276 yards so far, and his best target has been John Arpin, who ranks fourth in receiving with 10 catches for 95 yards. The two hooked up on a 62-yard TD last week.

Pat Hawley and Bob Block, who along with Arpin, played on Neenah's state runner-up basketball team, lead the Rockets in rushing. Hawley has 150 yards in 43 tries, while Block, who ran back a 95-yard kickoff for a TD against GBW, follows with 125 yards in 30 tries. Block is also tied for fourth in league scoring with 30 points.

Appleton East's chances against Fondy have to be slim in view of the teams' performances to date. In the Cardinals, the Patriots are running up against the best defense in the conference.

Only 128 Yards

In its four games, Fondy has allowed only a total of 128 yards. In contrast, AHS-E is dead last in defense having allowed 1,153 yards.

The Fondy offense is headed by Jerry Kosterman, who is the FRVC's top scorer with 36 points. He rates eighth among rushers with 269 yards in 57 carries.

Waupaca at Wittenberg.
Marion at Manawa.

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Two of the undefeated powers of the Central Wisconsin Conference, Waupaca and Wittenberg, meet Friday night at Wittenberg in the circuit's feature contest.

Waupaca has rolled up a pair of conference wins while Wittenberg got its first taste of league competition last weekend and handed Weyauwega a solid 28-0 setback.

Other league games Friday night will find a Little Chute invading Weyauwega and Marion will be at Manawa.

Wittenberg not only carries a perfect (5-0) record into the game, but the Wildcats have not been scored on this season. While blanking every opponent, Wittenberg had piled up 128 points.

Narrow Loss

After a narrow, 16-15 loss to Clintonville of the Mid-Eastern Conference in its season opener, Waupaca has posted three straight victories. The Cornets currently rank No. 6 in the state Sunday, and came away as well in the small school category.

In two conference outings, the Cornets have scored 60 points while allowing 12. Waupaca week downed Little Chute, 21-12, then Ardlerley, 30, now in his ninth handed Marion its first setback season of pro football, was of the season by a 48-0 margin chosen in the sportswriter poll last weekend.

Little Chute and Weyauwega will both be looking for their first conference win. The Mustangs of Little Chute have lost aged the Packers status with Waupaca and last week previous passes, threw an aerial battle to a 0-0 tie with Manawa that seemed to be destined for wa. Weyauwega has lost to touchdown country.

Wittenberg in its only conference encounter and has a 1-3-1 defensive cornerback intercepted the toss at the goal line, with 17 seconds left to play and San Francisco out of luck.

Have 1-1-2 Record

For the season, the Mustangs have a 1-1-2 record. The lone such defensive behavior is a win was a season-opening 44-12 reason for the Packers unbeaten victory over Iowa-Scandinavia, record going into next week's Ties have been played with game against Minnesota.

Manawa and Fox Valley Lutheran only seven points, the best Marion and Manawa also will defensive figure in the league to be looking for their initial date.

Mets' Success Spells Death Of a Legend

(The time is 1962, the place, a baseball dugout in the Polo Grounds. Out on the field, a bunch of clumsy characters in orange and blue uniforms are busy dropping fly balls, missing batting practice, tripping on the steps to the water cooler, bumping into each other on the base paths.

(The comedy relief of the National League pennant race, the New York Mets, was in fine, furious flower. The radio announcer was telling a story. "So Roger Craig is getting knocked out of the box, and Casey comes to the mound and says, 'Maestro, what seems to be the trouble?' And Craig says, 'I can't seem to get a grip on the ball; it keeps slipping out of my hand,' and Casey says, 'You're standing on two tons of dirt, why wouldn't you rub some of it on the ball?'"

(When the laughter subsided, someone said, "One of these days, the Mets won't be funny. They'll be the champions of all baseball," and a newsmen looked at him and said: "Oh boy, before the Mets are the champs of baseball there'll be people on the moon!"

The Mets champions?! Laurel and Hardy in "Hamlet." Patsy Kelly as Queen Victoria. Tiny Tim at the Met.

Actually, New York should be crying. This is not so much the birth of a dynasty as the death of a legend. This wasn't a team, it was a musical comedy. It marched not only into the record, it marched into Joe Miller's.

This was a team that set the league record of consecutive losses (nine) before it ever won a game, which dropped an all-time record of 120 games its first season. As late as last year, it established the all-time record for one season strikeouts—1,203.

In its first season, it used the league record number of 54 players. Eight different men played third base. If it could be called that. It used 17 pitchers, two of them "Bob Miller" and they set a staff record for balks (20), and home runs allowed (192).

It set an all-time, all-league record for strikeouts in one game this year, boosting Steve Carlton into the record books by striking out 19 times in a game it won.

It was so slow afoot, it used to lead the league in beating out outfield hits. It also led in stretching doubles into singles, stretching triples into outs. Marv Throneberry once hit a triple into the bullpen but, when Cubs first baseman Ernie Banks called for the ball, he was called out for failing to touch first base. Manager Stengel started to protest till coach Cookie Lavagetto tapped on the shoulder and whispered, "Cut it out! He failed to touch second, too!"

It led the league in things you don't see in the record

Hank Thompson, Star of 'Miracle' Giants Dies

FRESNO Calif. (AP) — Hank Thompson, who rose to stardom with the miracle New York Giants of the 1950s, hit bottom after retirement and then dedicated his life to helping underprivileged boys, is dead at 43. Thompson died in a Fresno hospital Tuesday night. He suffered a seizure at his home make its fans cry. Only the Mets could make them laugh. They're just another success story now. Wall Street can have them. If the Yankees are half-smart, they'll send a wire to Marv Throneberry and all the Bob Millers in the phone book by tonight. There's a million disenfranchised, to say nothing of disenchanted, fans around Flatbush Avenue once again.

Monday night and never regained consciousness. His wife, Betty, and his mother, Iona Thompson, were at his bedside. The county coroner said it would be three or four days before the cause of death could be determined.

Thompson, an acrobatic third baseman and left-handed hitter, began his baseball career with the Kansas City Monarchs of 1953, when he hit .302. He was sent down to Minneapolis in the American Association in 1957 and quit baseball later that year.

Thompson was instrumental in the Giants' dramatic 1955 pennant drive, hitting eight home runs down the stretch. In the World Series that year, he set a record by walking seven times. He tied another record in the 1954 series by getting a hit in each game, hitting .364.

Hammerin' Hank, as he was known, and Giants' center fielder Bobby Thompson were often referred to as the tom-tom twins because of their long-range hitting.

He hit 129 major league home runs. His best season was in 1953, when he hit .302. He was sent down to Minneapolis in the American Association in 1957 and quit baseball later that year.

Thompson was a cab driver in New York for a while and then domestic problems set in. He was divorced and went to Texas where he was convicted of armed robbery. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison in 1963 but was paroled after four years.

Arriving in Fresno in 1968 to visit his mother, he went to work for the city recreation department as a playground director and married the former Betty Turner of Fresno.

At the time he took the job, Thompson said he wanted to "dedicate my life to helping boys."

Sports Keep Watchful Eye on Betting

By MIKE RATHET
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Leaders of four professional sports have emphasized that their security forces are at work around the clock guarding against invasion of their houses by underworld elements, either directly or through a betting scandal.

"We have no indication that kind of element has moved in," said Pete Rozelle, commissioner of pro football. "But you have to be alert to it. With the volume of betting on sports, we've all been fortunate there've been no major scandals recently."

The problem of surveillance and the manner in which pro football, pro basketball, major league baseball and golf protect themselves from the threat of scandal were major topics of discussion Wednesday at The Associated Press' managing editors convention.

That the threat is omnipresent was agreed to by a panel including Rozelle. Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association, General Manager Larry McPhail of the New York Yankees, and Joe Dey, commissioner for golf's touring pros.

"I don't think any of us can pay enough attention to security," said Kennedy. "Pro football has taken the leadership and we have followed. Hopefully, NBA now employs an outside agency to handle its security, but we were moving toward an internal system which would duplicate those used by pro football and baseball. Pro football has two fulltime employees in the commissioner's office, baseball has one—and each has a network of representatives in cities where they have teams.

They said that while golf has "no extensive apparatus... if there is anything suspicious we do investigate it. The possibilities for chickenery are vast in golf so we are watching constantly."

Rozelle estimated that the cost of pro football's security system ran somewhere between $200,000 and $300,000 a year.

He also pointed out that direct invasion of the sport was being closely watched by both his security and consultants in Washington, D.C., who checked on the backgrounds of potential owners and officials while constantly remaining in touch with players.

Things were much better for the Raiders, who were No. 7 in the NFL (7 of 8) last week, but the high school crystal ball developed too many cracks, so the total predictions performance became 75.6 percent (28-9-2). For the season, the rate has dropped to .789 (90-24-6).

Packers over Vikings — This is in the way of a bit of a long shot because of the going-over Minnesota gave the Colts last Sunday. Our Packer hunch is based on the belief that breaks,

Kasko Expected To be Named Bosox Manager

BOSTON (AP) — Eddie Kasko was expected to be named manager of the new Boston Red Sox manager today, replacing Dick Williams, who was fired last week.

Kasko, 38, had a 10-year big league playing career, mostly as a utility infielder. He wound up with the Red Sox in 1966.

BOSTON (AP) — Eddie Kasko was expected to be named manager of the new Boston Red Sox manager today, replacing Dick Williams, who was fired last week.

A Red Sox spokesman declined any official comment, however, on the virtually unanimous speculation that Kasko had been tapped for the job.

Kasko, 38, had a 10-year big league playing career, mostly as a utility infielder. He wound up with the Red Sox in 1966.

NOTES and NOTIONS

Things were much better for the Raiders, who were No. 7 in the NFL (7 of 8) last week, but the high school crystal ball developed too many cracks, so the total predictions performance became 75.6 percent (28-9-2). For the season, the rate has dropped to .789 (90-24-6).

Packers over Vikings — This is in the way of a bit of a long shot because of the going-over Minnesota gave the Colts last Sunday. Our Packer hunch is based on the belief that breaks,

Buksyk Slams 656 in Valley Classic Loop

Sam Handy cracked a 255 in the 656 series to lead a parade of high scorers in the Fox Valley Classic League at Lakeroad Lanes, Neenah, Wednesday night.

Handy was runnerup in series with a 652 and Buksyk had a 233 game to go with his leading series.

Hub Hielsberg jolted a 244 game and 645 series in the Classic circuit, Doug Kuchen-

In the Continental League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly, Tom Vandenberg hit a 225 game and 595 series while Jerry Thiel posted a 598 count.

Jansen Hits 634

Glen Jansen smacked a 230 game and 634 series to lead the bowling in the American Legion League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes Wednesday night.

Al Seemann was runnerup in the Legion circuit with a 228 game and Norm Reybrock had a 583 series.

In the Fraternal League at Hahn's Lanes, Wally Roblee and Norm Jahnke each had games of 244 and Dick Sunde blasted a 630 series to divide honors three ways. Roblee finished with a 580 set and other top scores included Paul Seib 584, Tom Bartelt 237-578 and Marty Voigt 576.

Norm Carlson had a 590 series to set the pace in the Merchants League at the 41 Bowl last night and Don Klemp was close behind with a 588 count.

Currie Rolls 238

Pacing the Veterans League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday was Bob Currie with a 238 game and 580 series.

Floyd Gabrielson's 601 series was the top count in the Twin City Bowl.

Earl Lipske hit a 581 total and R. Armstrong rolled a 578 count to lead the Fox Valley League at Sabre Lanes Wednesday.

In action at the new Super Bowl, Duane Hanson socked a 235 game in the Appleton Coated Paper Company League.

Leo DeCoster jolted a 232 game and Bob Eggert had a 596 series to share honors in the Wednesday Men's League at the Twin City Bowl.

Recent action in the American League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly, saw Harold DeBruin hit a 244 game and 628 series, Larry Ott had a 613, Barney Van Daalwyck hit 243-576, Cliff Sandertoot had a 580 series and Ron Murphy rolled 591.

Rozelle Concludes Johnny Sample Was Wrong

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Pete Rozelle, commissioner of pro football, was asked Wednesday at The Associated Press Managing Editors Convention on what he thought of a recent statement by Johnny Sample of the New York Jets that he was a dictator.

"I weighed it carefully," said Rozelle, "and I concluded he was wrong."

Defensive Star

MADISON (AP)—Stout's Roger Zell, who snared four interceptions in the Blue Devils' 13-0 victory over Oshkosh last week, has been named Wisconsin State University Conference football Player of the Week.

Zell, a 228-pound senior line-backer from Walworth, also was credited with 12 solo tackles and a fumble recovery.

Scotch vs. Canadian vs. 7 Crown.

We don't want to step on any toes. Scotch makes a great drink. So does Canadian. So does 7 Crown.

We just want to remind you that more people prefer the taste of Seagram's 7 Crown. Which is why more people buy it than the top Scotch and the top Canadian combined.

Surprised? Then you haven't tasted our whiskey.

Say Seagram's and Be Sure.

Lambie Raps 644 Set in 'Bug' Circuit

Andy Lambie's booming 644 total, including games of 256 and 227, highlighted the most recent competition in the Jerry Kamps Bug Couples League at Village Lanes in Little Chute.

In addition to Lambie's high counts, Ruth Sanders walloped a 535 series, and Donna Wood came in with a 206 singleton.

Virgil Biesterveld had the spotlight to himself in the Hot Rod Couples League also at Village Lanes, as he socked lines of 227 and 225 en route to a 614 total.

Bob Sievers blasted 235-59 combination for honors in the Nut Couples League at Little Chute Recreation Lanes. Elaine Mignon had the only other top count, a 208 game.

Lorna Pekarske's 532 three-sets set the pace in the Bird

Senate Passes Tarr Plan for County Officer

Measure Backed by Larger City Mayors;
Voted in Referendum

MADISON (AP) — While the state Assembly stewed over welfare demonstrations that interrupted Monday's session, the Senate voted Wednesday on one of the major facets of the Tarr task force's proposals for improved local government.

A bill which would allow other counties to set up an office of chief administrator like Milwaukee County's chief executive was approved unanimously on a voice vote.

Also adopted without dissent was a bill under which a real estate broker's license could be suspended or revoked for panic selling tactics.

Both measures were sent to the Assembly.

Mayor's Backing

The Tarr study group's recommendation for counties to have executive administrators had the backing of mayors of Milwaukee, Wausau, Kenosha, Green Bay and Madison, who recently concluded a two-week publicity campaign in support of Tarr programs.

Milwaukee County has had an executive, elected on a non-partisan ballot, since 1960. Other counties would be allowed to establish a similar office, having certain veto powers.

Two Methods

A county could establish the office with a resolution of its county board, or through a referendum.

The bill also would allow a county of less than 500,000 population to create a post of county administrator. It would be an appointive job.

Voters agreed in a referendum earlier this year with the proposal for county executives.

Meeting Set On Housing Hilbert Chamber To Explore Plan For Low Cost Units

HILBERT — State and local officials will be on hand for a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Oct. 16 to discuss the possibility of low cost housing rental units for the village.

John Dindorfer, state housing consultant for homes for the aged, and Raymond Kleiber and Mayor Clarence Wolf, both of Brillion, will explain necessary procedures to spearhead a project similar to the one at Brillion.

Low cost housing for the elderly was brought before the Chamber at a recent meeting by Orville Manz, local businessman and village president. Businessmen agreed that the possibility of a federally funded housing project should be investigated for the village.

Anyone wishing to attend the meeting may make reservations with Chamber president Leander Roehrig.

Hunters' Safety Course Planned

WITTENBERG — A course in gun hunters' safety will be offered at the Village Hall for boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 16, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

The course will be taught by Harry Krumrie, and is to include 16 total hours of training. A schedule for further sessions will be set up by the group at the first meeting. The program is being sponsored by the Fish and Game Club.

Weyauwega Club Picks New Officers

WEYAUWEGA — "W" Club members at the high school have elected John Allie, president; Jim Biddison, vice president; Roy Buchholz, secretary; Doug Buchholz, treasurer; and Bruce Petersen, student council representative.

Mr. and Mrs. Arndt and their daughter, Roxie, route 2, Weyauwega, are all set for Horse and Buggy Days this weekend at Weyauwega. They gathered their garb from family collections and friends. Arndt is setting a clock manufactured in another era, while his daughter rests in a family heirloom rocking chair and his wife watches. (Paschke Photo)

Weyauwega to Celebrate

Hitch Up the Ole Buggy

BY MICKEY PASCHKE

Post-Crescent Correspondent
WEYAUWEGA — Buggy rides, an antique auction, parades, beer garden dances, and antique displays all add up to a weekend of fun as Weyauwega celebrates its ninth annual Horse and Buggy Days on Friday and Saturday.

Beards, ranging from one day stubbles to luxuriant growths, are appearing everywhere. One of the most popular contests of the two-day celebration is the beard judging event, scheduled for Saturday evening in the beer tent.

Whiskers and their counterparts will be judged in a number of categories: prettiest, softest, longest, toughest, curliest, blackest, and grayest. Only those men sporting a shavers' permit will be allowed to appear clean shaven.

No Motor Vehicles

Horses and buggies will be the mode of transportation with surreys, carts, rigs, carriages, and lumber wagons replacing motor vehicles on the streets of Weyauwega.

Streets will be decorated in a harvest theme. Area residents will bring forth their old-fashioned garb from among the moth balls in trunks and attics for their once-a-year airing. Top hats, swallow-tail coats, beaded capes, plumed hats, high button shoes, and other Gay Nineties styles will be a common sight.

Business establishments have trimmed their windows with relics of bygone days. For the most part, the memorabilia is appropos to the store displaying it. The arrangements encompass widely divergent items from early vintage household wares to old cameras and tintypes. Articles foreign to the younger generation include button hooks, bed warmers, stereoscopes, celluloid collars, spectacles, black cotton stockings, butter churns, and coffee grinders.

An antique auction will begin at 10 a.m. Friday morning at the Masonic Temple. Antiques ranging from kerosene lamps to china and bisque dolls will be sold.

Cash prizes will be awarded on both days for the best costumes. A special costume contest and the beard judging competition will be held at 9 p.m. Saturday in the beer tent. A television grand prize will be awarded the same evening.

Expected to draw the largest number to Weyauwega is the Saturday parade with the 2 p.m. event to feature two bands from New London, two from Waupaca, the Weyauwega High School band, and a group from Bloomfield, horses and buggies, steam engines, and floats. A kiddie parade at 1:30 p.m. and an antique car parade will precede the main event.

An old-time beer garden will furnish good old-fashioned fun. Heels will click to the beat of the Dick Rodgers band on Friday evening and the Frank Novotny band on Saturday.

The celebration is sponsored by the Weyauwega Chamber of Commerce. Duane Schultz is serving as general chairman.

Movement Offered in Appleton

Lecture to Explain Inner Peace

An introductory lecture to a program entitled the Inner Peace Movement, geared to develop man's potentials through self-understanding, will be offered at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Appleton YMCA.

The lecture will be presented by Mrs. Carol Gregg, state assistant administrator for the program. Mrs. Gregg, a former Peace Corps volunteer, will describe man's relationship to science, religion and society and how to develop a balance within this framework.

The program, she explained, has a spiritual foundation but is not a religion. It is an accelerated personal growth program.

Hilbert Fund Drive Starts Monday in Business Division

HILBERT — The annual Community Fund Drive to raise $2,500, will start Monday with the business and industry canvass which will be completed by Saturday.

The first week's canvass will be headed by Orville Manz, and Mrs. Joe Zachek.

The residential drive will start Oct. 13 with Mrs. Larry Mauthe and Mrs. Leander Roehrig as co-chairmen.

A total of 12 organizations will benefit from the drive. There will not be any campaigns conducted in the village for separate groups.

"Through leadership training and techniques, you can discover and develop self-confidence, respect and leadership qualities that are potential in everyone," she said.

Mrs. Gregg will explain the

difference between the conscious (thinking) mind and the unconscious (feeling) mind and the interrelationship between the two. She also will enlarge upon how man's life runs in seven-year cycles.

First Punt, Pass, Kick Practice Scheduled at New London Field

NEW LONDON — Practice for the annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Washington School practice field.

Kawell Motors and the Jaycees again will be co-sponsors.

Competition in six age groups will be conducted Oct. 11 at the same location. Winners will participate in district competition.

If anyone attending the lecture is interested, a technique workshop, which would last three hours, is set up for another evening.

A home group is formed after the workshop, which is closely supervised by trained leaders for the first six meetings.

Since the program is a voluntary one, there is no pressure on anyone to participate further than the person is interested in doing.

Because there is no profit involved, the national leaders charge for time only, which comes to $1 an hour per person. The program, organized in 1964, has been introduced in about 200 communities in 40 states and Canada.

Marion Mothers Club Will Hear Coaches Speak on Athletics

MARION — The Mothers Club of the elementary school will be a little more knowledgeable in the athletic and physical education program after their first meeting of the year at 8 p.m. Monday.

John Buchholz, Glen Fleetwood and James Rowan, high school coaches and physical education instructors, will present the program.

Mrs. William Daley is program chairman. Hostess are Mrs. Randy Arndt and Mrs. David Brandenburg.

Teachers will be in their classrooms prior to the meeting so that mothers can visit if they desire.

Expand School Facilities Now, Chilton Board Urges

New Building Felt Necessary
In Preparation for Expected
Double Enrollment in 20 Years

CHILTON — The board of and use it for elementary education here has made a strong bid to increase educational facilities for the school district.

According to figures recently released by the board, the school population will nearly double within the next 20 years. The administration has released total enrollment for this term, kindergarten through the 12th grade, at 1,422. The projected enrollment for 1990 is 2,555.

However, Arthur J. Horst, board president, has explained that the exact number of students in any grade at any given time is impossible to predict.

He did say that "it is possible to gain a general idea of what future enrollments might be when these predictions are based on recent measurable trends. These, together with birth rates based on estimates of future enrollments, will represent a reasonably accurate count on which future planning can be based."

Alternatives Studied

School system authorities have considered the possibility of using the existing building as a full junior high-senior high complex, serving grades 7 through 12. Horst contends this is unrealistic because enrollment in these grades would exceed the building capacity within the next five or six years.

On the other hand, use of the building in part as a junior high would allow for considerable expansion and improvement of the junior high program, he feels.

This plan would involve the conversion of the present school building for grades nine through 12.

"A moderation of the above alternative might be that of grouping kindergarten through the eighth grade together, and constructing a new facility to serve a combination elementary-junior high complex, leaving the existing building for ninth through 12th grade.

Horst noted that such a plan is not ideal in that it would be a number of years before the existing facility would be in use enough to require full extent of the building, based on enrollment estimates.

First Stage

Another possibility being considered by the board is to build the first stage of a high school

This first stage would be designed and constructed to include only general purpose classrooms which could be used together with general service areas and office rooms, designed in such a manner that they would be available only for short range program.

However, Horst noted that this would only alleviate the situation for five or six years.

Growth Pattern

The discussions and statistics presented are based on the assumption that growth in the Chilton School District during the next 20 years will follow the trends that have operated in the recent past.

Key factors involved in this assumption are that consolidation with other districts will not take place, that parochial school enrollments will decline at the same rate as in the past, excluding the transfer of grades 7 and 8 from St. Mary's and St. Augustine's Schools, and that a continued economic development in the area will bring about trends of population growth and in-migration similar to, but not greater, than those which have occurred in the past ten years, Horst outlined.

Several basic premises have emerged from these projects and discussions:

Future Needs

— That current overcrowding in the existing school building and estimated future enrollment.

Reaction to Gropi Shows Fear, Anger

Welfare Recipients
Say Demonstration
Cut Chance for Funds

Welfare recipients in Outagamie County have expressed dismay and anger at the actions of welfare demonstrators in Madison who, led by Father James Gropi, occupied state assembly chambers Monday.

The consensus was that the demonstration did more harm than good in efforts to get welfare aid cuts restored.

One woman, who asked not to be identified, said, "Father Gropi should be shot."

Many of the other women felt the action Monday would hurt them. "I don't know what the legislature will do now," one said. Another added that she doubted the legislature would restore the cuts as a result of the demonstration.

The women were waiting at the courthouse annex this morning for their October assistance checks.

Demonstrators occupied the Assembly chambers Monday, preventing the Assembly from meeting. They were removed after a court order was obtained preventing anyone except authorized persons from entering the capitol building.

Sympathizers Call

There's Going to be Another 'Punchy'

BLACK CREEK — The five Calkins children will get a new "Punchy."

They buried the first Punchy a week and a half ago. The year-old collie-shepherd dog was the victim of a young hunter's arrow.

An account of Punchy's untimely death was carried in the Sunday Post-Crescent on Sept. 28, along with a photograph of the Calkins children around the grave they dug for him.

Mrs. Philip Calkins said Wednesday that public response to her children's plight has been "tremendous."

Sympathizers Call

The route 2, Black Creek family started receiving telephone calls from sympathizers about 8:45 a.m. Sunday. The calls continued through the day.

One call was from a Menasha man who has a registered, purebred collie. Later Sunday, he brought the female dog out to show the Calkins children. They were promised one of her pups — probably in January.

Hunter Criticized

They expressed their sympathy and their displeasure over the actions of the 15-year-old Menasha boy who buried an arrow deep into Punchy's shoulders while he was deer hunting near the Calkins home Sept. 21. The boy said he shot the animal because he feared it would attack his companion.

Mrs. Calkins said many of the bowhunters who called "apologized" for the actions of the boy.

She said some of the people called long distance. She also received several letters.

"It doesn't bring back Punchy," she said, but it sure gives you a good feeling."

Welfare Check Cuts Postponed One Month

Cuts in state welfare assistance for categorical aids, which were to have gone into effect with checks received this month by welfare recipients, have been postponed until Nov. 1.

Outagamie County Director of Social Services Alfred Eggert said his department was notified late last Thursday by the State Department of Social Services to compute October aid payments on the same basis as in the past.

Eggert said the October checks had already been computed under the reduced formula when the rescinding order came. He said the total amount of aid reduction for the month would have been about $2,200.

He said they were told to wait until November before making any changes. By that time the results of the special session of the state legislature will be known.

Public Meeting Sunday

LU Vietnam Protest to Involve Community

Members of the community will be offered an opportunity to voice their thoughts on an Oct. 15 moratorium, devoted to a protest of the Vietnam war by Lawrence University, at an open meeting at 4 p.m. Sunday at the university.

Proposals for the protest day will be discussed at that time by members of the national committee, called the "Vietnam Moratorium Committee," which is staffed by veterans of the Eugene McCarthy and Robert Kennedy for president campaigns.

The group has called for a slowdown in work and a postponement of classes and the closing of administration offices on that day and the faculty of Lawrence agreed to the proposal at a special meeting Monday.

Local committees were formed Tuesday at a meeting of about 35 persons at Lawrence.

The committees are to recruit volunteer workers and to discuss the advisability of seminars and workshops to discuss political, economic and religious aspects of the war; a sit-in at the Selective Service offices; circulation of petitions and fund-raising activities for war refugees.

The reason the moratorium is being brought to the public is to involve the whole community in the effort, according to Mort Schwartz, of the economics department.

He said a grassroots organization should involve all segments of Appleton.

Broad Spectrum
"It must present a broad spectrum. It must give a series of alternatives to bring in the most number of students, faculty and community," he added.

Another suggestion made was to establish connections with the area high schools and the community to draw attention to Vietnam.

Efforts should also be made through churches, businesses and labor, it was suggested.

The protest action is designed to escalate each month with a two-day suspension in November, three in December and continuing until American action in Vietnam is ended.

Student organizers have stressed the fact that this is in no way to be construed as a strike against the colleges themselves.

Scout Program Opens For Girls at Amherst

AMHERST — The Junior Girl Scouts and Cadettes recently conducted the season's first meeting.

Mrs. Larry Ristow is the leader for the two groups of girls. There are five juniors, which includes the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, meeting on Monday night. The Cadettes include the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, with 11 members and has a Tuesday night meeting.

Plans are being made for a fly-up ceremony on Oct. 20, when Brownies become Juniors.

Neenah Man Charged With Killing Dog

Sitter Slates Trial In Oshkosh Court After Innocent Plea

OSHKOSH — A 36-year-old rural Neenah man pleaded innocent to a charge of killing a domestic animal and trial has been set for 8:30 a.m. Oct. 16 in County Court.

Thomas Wandahsega, route 1, Neenah, appeared before Judge James V. Sitter Tuesday morning. He was released on his own recognizance.

Wandahsega was charged by the sheriff's department and was arrested on a warrant on Sept. 26. The complaint against Wandahsega was signed by Marsella Kasick, route 1, Neenah, owner of the dog the defendant allegedly killed.

According to the complaint, Wandahsega on July 27, grabbed the dog, twirled it around in the air and smashed the animal against the side of his house.

Delinquency of Minors
Robert McKellip, 36, 1651 Eugene St., Menasha, pleaded innocent to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls. The alleged offense occurred on June 12. McKellip was released on his own recognizance and the judge set further proceedings for Oct. 8 at Neenah.

A preliminary hearing has been set 2 p.m. Oct. 8 for a rural Menasha youth on a grand theft charge. Michael Boylan, route 1, is charged with stealing two bucket seats and a fire extinguisher on Sept. 21 from a car owned by Wayne Schmidt, 1078 Bantleon Court. He is also charged with taking a tachometer from an auto owned by Daniel Smith, 1457 Linda Ave., Menasha, on Sept. 23. In both cases, the defendant requested an attorney.

Marvin Barth, 30, 215 Smith St., Neenah, pleaded innocent to a disorderly conduct charge. The incident, which allegedly occurred on Aug. 25, involved a fight between Barth and his brother. Barth's attorney told the court that the brother put up the bond for Marvin and apparently does not want to press charges. Further proceedings in the matter are set Oct. 15 at Neenah.

A 19-year-old Appleton youth, Steven E. Mewhorter, 1706 Sanders St., Appleton, charged with non-registration and no valid drivers license for his motorcycle, pleaded guilty to both counts.

10-Day Jail Term
He was fined $20 for non-registration and given a 10-day jail sentence with Huber privileges on the other count. Mewhorter was charged following an accident on Sept. 4 in the Town of Menasha. His cycle went out of control near State 47 and County Trunk P and crashed through a wall of the Vulcan Basement Waterproofing Co.

The youth sustained a broken arm, back injuries and hand cuts in the mishap.

New London Has UN Day Leader
NEW LONDON — Al Weeden has been named by Mayor S. W. Krostue as United Nations Day chairman for the city.

The appointment inaugurates the community's drive to plan and organize an informative and meaningful observance in honor of UN Day, Oct. 24.

Weeden hopes to involve business, school and religious groups in the event. All interested citizens and organizations are to contact him for further details.

Construction Plans
That school construction plans in the district should be geared towards building a new high school serving grades nine through 12, for the following reasons:

The need for additional facilities in special subject areas, particularly in the vocational area, to expand and improve the high school curriculum.

ments indicate an immediate need for the construction of new facilities, and that additional space for the accommodation of 1,100-1,450 students will be required within the next 10 to 20 years.

That the district seek an architectural solution for the new building that is open-ended, resulting in a structure in which the use of spaces is extremely flexible, and that the facility is placed on the new site to enhance possible future expansion.

That the existing school building could eventually best be utilized as a kindergarten through 8th grade facility because of the appropriateness of the building's special facilities, projected enrollments in these grades, and the central location of the site.

Linda Kautz Is Trucker Queen For Homecoming

CLINTONVILLE — The homecoming queen and her court at Clintonville senior high school have been elected for the Oct. 11 homecoming festivities here.

Linda Kautz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kautz, has been named queen. Members of the court are Peggy Torborg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Torborg, and Glenace Heiman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Heiman, senior representatives; Pan Anker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claire Anker, junior representative; and Linda Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fischer Jr., sophomore representative.

Brillion Launches Survey of School
BRILLION — Public school teachers have begun preparation for next year's high school re-evaluation by the North Central Accrediting Association.

All teachers have been assigned to one or more committees to make a self-evaluation of the school program.

Committees will be working in such areas as philosophy of objectives, school and community, program of studies, student activity program, library and audio-visual services, guidance services, health services school plant, school staff and administration. Separate committees are assigned to each subject area taught.

Chilton Board Urges New School Building

The projected seventh through 12th grade enrollments, which indicate that the existing building would accommodate these grades for only a few years, but that ninth through 12th grade enrollments alone would not be great enough to use the building economically for some time.

The need for additional site area for physical education, parking, etc., and the appropriateness of the new school site chosen for high school use in terms of size and location.

In the near future, informational meetings are planned to discuss the need for added school facilities and to answer questions relative to the various options available to provide them.

Sanders Named 'Bulldog of Week' At New London
NEW LONDON — John Sanders was awarded "Bulldog of the Week" honors by the New London coaching staff for his performance in the 0-0 deadlock Saturday with Menasha.

Sanders also was designated defensive lineman. Other selections were Dan Barrington, defensive back, and Pete Meiklejohn, offensive back.

The coaching staff didn't name an outstanding offensive lineman for Saturday's game.

The Bluejays dominated play and threatened to score nearly all of the game. The Bulldogs got off two big gains which gave them an edge in statistics.

COG Housing Unit Endorses Needs Study
Planner's Outline For Region Gets Committee Support

KAUKAUNA — A regional housing committee Tuesday night endorsed an approach to studying the housing needs in the area and developing solutions.

The support came from the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) housing technical advisory committee at its second meeting with Kenneth Theine, associate COG planner in charge of the housing analysis.

Theine outlined a prospectus showing generally the housing need in the area and how he proposes to analyze in more detail this need. Specifically, he hopes to reveal the type of housing needed and where each type is needed.

Theine told committeemen a preliminary look indicated the Fox Valley, as a whole, is more overcrowded than the state or any individual region in the state. State and federal officials also have pointed to the valley's critical need for housing.

HUD Review
Committeemen also authorized Theine to send his prospectus to the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for review. If HUD also agrees the approach is proper, Theine should proceed, they agreed.

COG received $12,500 for area-wide housing planning this year and inspection and code enforcement staffs.

Workable Programs
These shortcomings presently "can severely curtail or jeopardize the implementation" of a comprehensive housing program, he said.

He outlined his plans for developing a workable program, including codes, which he said "helps a city make good decisions on housing."

Only Appleton and Kaukauna have workable programs, and Oshkosh, Neenah and Menasha each are considering drafting one.

Edward Adams, of the Fond du Lac-Oshkosh Building Trades Council, was accepted as a new committee member, replacing the original representative of labor who quit at the first meeting.

Theine also outlined why he felt the committee was fairly balanced in representation of management and labor, and the committee agreed the distribution was adequate.

Forged by Children? Checks Stolen Year Ago Found in Appleton

Five personal checks, including three stolen from a Milwaukee assemblyman's secretary, turned up in Appleton Tuesday night and Wednesday, detectives said.

One check, made out for $30,000, was found in a downtown department store. The only other check showing an amount was for $800, police said.

Two of the checks were made out to an Appleton detective and were found near the police station.

A detective said three of the checks were among 25 believed taken more than a year ago from the home of a campaign secretary to Milwaukee Assemblyman Lloyd Barbee. The secretary's office was burglarized. These reportedly are the first of the stolen checks to turn up, a detective explained.

The other personal checks found here carry the names of a Milwaukee couple. Detectives said they have not been able to contact the couple.

The checks are forged, according to police. They said it appeared to be the work of children, but detectives were unable to explain how the Milwaukee checks got here.

COG Housing Unit Endorses Needs Study

Planner's Outline For Region Gets Committee Support

KAUKAUNA — A regional housing committee Tuesday night endorsed an approach to studying the housing needs in the area and developing solutions.

The support came from the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) housing technical advisory committee at its second meeting with Kenneth Theine, associate COG planner in charge of the housing analysis.

Theine outlined a prospectus showing generally the housing need in the area and how he proposes to analyze in more detail this need. Specifically, he hopes to reveal the type of housing needed and where each type is needed.

Theine told committeemen a preliminary look indicated the Fox Valley, as a whole, is more overcrowded than the state or any individual region in the state. State and federal officials also have pointed to the valley's critical need for housing.

HUD Review
Committeemen also authorized Theine to send his prospectus to the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for review. If HUD also agrees the approach is proper, Theine should proceed, they agreed.

COG received $12,500 for area-wide housing planning this year and inspection and code enforcement staffs.

Workable Programs
These shortcomings presently "can severely curtail or jeopardize the implementation" of a comprehensive housing program, he said.

He outlined his plans for developing a workable program, including codes, which he said "helps a city make good decisions on housing."

Only Appleton and Kaukauna have workable programs, and Oshkosh, Neenah and Menasha each are considering drafting one.

Edward Adams, of the Fond du Lac-Oshkosh Building Trades Council, was accepted as a new committee member, replacing the original representative of labor who quit at the first meeting.

Theine also outlined why he felt the committee was fairly balanced in representation of management and labor, and the committee agreed the distribution was adequate.

Clintonville High Elects Members to Student Council
CLINTONVILLE — Student council representatives and alternates have been elected at the senior high school.

The representatives named are Cindy Mitchell, Kathy Kohel, Jim Boehlke, Karyl Krings, Mark Frost, Peggy Torborg, Janice Mech, Deann Piehl, Sarah Smith, Kim Johnson, Mark Heideman, Sarah Moreland, Carol Bate, Bonnie Schoenke and Sue Malueg.

The alternates are Nancy Johnson, Debbie Duffey, Marilyn Sprenger, Wanda Meyers, Peter Zingler, Cynthia Schley, Mary Schultz, Paula Korth, Mary McLyman, Kathy Hoffmann, Dorothy Brewer, Eileen Krause and Nancy Campbell.

Officers, who were elected last spring, are Tim Nordwig, president; Dan Kelly, vice president; Sue Heideman, secretary, and Kris Erickson, treasurer.

and is participating another $25,700 for 1970, Theine said. HUD provides two-thirds of each total.

Committeemen from various communities outlined their own programs Tuesday night and exchanged ideas and experiences on working with HUD.

Lee Jensen, chairman of the Appleton Housing Authority, said that personal contact is much more effective than telephone calls or letters in dealings with HUD's Chicago office. He said Appleton hoped to break ground in January on a housing for the elderly complex.

Owner-Occupied Homes
Theine reported that despite the large need for housing, the Fox Valley region showed a larger percentage of owner occupied homes and a lower deterioration level, not surprising since owners are more conscientious about upkeep.

He indicated Oshkosh has the poorest housing conditions in the region.

However, he said, all his data was based on the 1960 census and might be of limited value.

Theine said a good sign of deteriorating housing is overcrowding, or more than one person per room. He warned that if owner occupancy level should change, this could cause the overcrowding to have "serious effects on the region's housing conditions."

He cited present obstacles to a regional approach to the housing problems. These include lack of a workable program certification for all communities, lack of compatible data, no provisions for housing services, no broad-based housing programs and inadequate welfare authorization for housing

Assembly Votes to Hold Milwaukee Priest in Contempt

By ARTHUR L. SRB
Associated Press Writer
MADISON (AP)—Legislators agreed to make another effort to conduct business today after deliberating whether to recess in the face of rowdy welfare demonstrations that turned the Wisconsin Capitol into an armed camp.

Assemblymen, whose chambers were clogged Monday by 2,000 protesters, adopted a contempt citation Wednesday against the Rev. James E.

Groppi, ordering the civil rights leader jailed for his role in demonstrations.

The Assembly's Republican majority conferred with senators before turning down a motion to recess until next week.

"We ought to adjourn or recess," Sen. Walter J. Hollander said. "We can only get in one side of the building. This is getting to be crazy."

About 400 Groppi supporters continued to rally Wednesday night outside the Capitol after Groppi was taken into custody end of the session, or for six months, whichever was shorter.

Forty-eight Republicans voted for the contempt resolution, and four did not vote. Of the Assembly's 47 Democrats, 23 endorsed the resolution.

It was approved after more than three and a half hours of debate. Records indicate the statute was used in 1937 against an assemblyman, but was not successfully invoked.

A copy of the Assembly's resolution was delivered promptly to the Dane County sheriff's office.

A spokesman for the state attorney general's office said the citation takes precedence over other charges, even though Groppi's attorneys were reported preparing a court challenge to the obscure statute's constitutionality.

Sponsors of the resolution said the citation automatically jails Groppi under the legislature's contempt powers.

Assemblyman Stanley York, R-River Falls, a Methodist clergyman, said Groppi was guilty of the "most terrible crime in a civilized country—the obstruction of legitimate government."

"We simply cannot pass off the responsibility to the courts or to some other agency," York said. "I feel every

'War of Nerves' Charged

Germans Tie Last Strings For Coalition Government

BONN, Germany (AP)—Only "loose strings" remain to be tied up before the Social Democrats and Free Democrats agree to form a coalition government in West Germany, a spokesman for the negotiating parties said today.

Another negotiator accused the Christian Democrats, whose 20-year domination of West German politics would be ended by such a coalition, of launching "a war of nerves" to prevent it.

The spokesman, Heinz Kuehn of the Social Democrats' presidium, said talks between his party and the Free Democrats today would deal with allocating prospective Cabinet posts. The two parties plan to cut the number of portfolios from the present 19 to 15 or less.

Kuehn said the parties would submit their proposed government program to their parliamentary groups for approval Friday—12 days earlier than expected—and the new coalition might be announced that day.

After five hours of talks Wednesday, Kuehn told newsmen: "We have achieved a measure of agreement so good no one would have thought it possible when the talks began."

We only have some loose strings to tie up and everything is perfect."

Willy Weyer, the Free Democratic interior minister of North Rhine-Westphalia who participated in the talks, said the Christian Democrats were waging "a war of nerves" and predicted this would escalate in the next few days.

This was a reference to a news conference statement by Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger that his Christian Democratic party had made "broad policy proposals" to the Free Democrats and expected to talk with them after their negotiations with the Social Democrats.

A coalition between the Social Democrats (SPD) and Free Democrats (FDP) would make Foreign Minister Willy Brandt the first Social Democratic chancellor since Herman Muller in 1928-30.

The negotiations are led by Brandt and FDP chief Walter Scheel.

Together the SPD and FDP would command a 12-seat majority over the Christian Democrats in the 496-seat Bundestag, West Germany's parliament.

The present coalition government of Christian Democrats and Social Democrats expires at midnight, Oct. 19.

There has been some resistance to an SPD-FDP coalition from the Free Democrats' conservative wing, but indications are the conservatives will obey a party majority.

Erich Mende, former chairman of the Free Democratic party, said in an interview with the daily Bild Zeitung he favors a three-party coalition including the Christian Democrats, with new elections scheduled after two years instead of the usual four.

Mende also said he would oppose Brandt's candidacy for chancellor, but said he would obey party discipline.

Places Blame

MADISON (AP)—The Rev. James Groppi, before he was arrested Wednesday by the Dane County sheriff, sought sanctuary in a Madison Roman Catholic Church.

"I'm going to take sanctuary," Groppi said. "I'm going to ask God for sanctuary. He got me into this mess."

at a church. They said they did not intend to abandon their demands for restoration of welfare funds which legislators eliminated from the 1969-71 budget.

Groppi, 38, had led Milwaukee welfare recipients on a 90-mile march to Madison. His group of about 100 protesters was joined by hundreds of University of Wisconsin students for three days of challenges to National Guardsmen surrounding the Capitol.

The Assembly, angry over an estimated $26,000 in damage to carpets and furniture, voted 71-24 to have Groppi jailed under an 1848 contempt statute.

Opponents of the resolution called it unconstitutional, saying the legislature had never before approved such action.

However, Groppi was already in jail on a Dane County charge of disorderly conduct.

He declined to post $50 bond after learning he could be jailed again under a Milwaukee County warrant. The Milwaukee warrants charged violation of probation terms involved in a 1968 open housing demonstration conviction.

Irate legislators occupied themselves with speeches about the demonstrations, and did not get down to reviewing requests for $33 million in programs, including welfare funds and anti-poverty projects for Milwaukee.

Under the contempt statute, Groppi could be jailed until the

95 Americans Die in Week

Viet Toll Lowest in 2 Years

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—The lowest weekly combat toll among Americans in two years was announced today by the U.S. Command, reflecting a three-week lull on the battlefield.

An official summary said 95 Americans were killed in action during the seven-day period ending at midnight last Saturday—a drop from 135 the previous week and the lowest weekly toll since the week ending Aug. 12, 1967, when 82 Americans died.

While the American death toll decreased, South Vietnamese troop casualties rose from 297 to 308 last week. Since the week ending May 10, South Vietnamese casualties have been consistently higher than American combat deaths, which many officials say is a result of "Vietnamizing" the war.

Deaths Declined

The number of Americans wounded last week also went up to 1,315 from 1,114 the previous week, and South Vietnamese wounded from 883 to 896. The number of enemy killed declined to 2,382 from a revised total of 2,696 the previous week.

The U.S. Command said 38,823

Americans have been killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, with 556,629 enemy claimed killed in the same period.

Last week's low casualty count was coupled with U.S. intelligence reports that elements of four North Vietnamese divisions in the area around Saigon had pulled back along the Cambodian border farther than at any time since early 1968.

But a spokesman for the U.S. Command said he saw no immediate political significance in the latest developments.

"They are posing a threat to the outlying areas," he said, "but they are not posing as great a threat to Saigon. Everything (the enemy) says indicates he plans a continuation of campaigns punctuated by high points, along the lines of protracted combat."

"What we anticipate is a low level of activity punctuated by high points. We anticipate he will not jump off any large scale offensive in the near future. He has not taken the position yet of a sustained type offensive." Despite the low level of enemy activity, the U.S. Command spokesman said American B52 bombers are keeping up their heavy raids along the border north of Saigon.

"In the areas the B52s are hitting," he said, "the enemy is carrying on actions preparatory to jumping off on a campaign. He is moving in supplies, building his forces, gathering his forces. He doesn't gather his forces unless he is planning something."

GOP Plan to Cool Criticism Of War Policy Stirs Debate

supporting the President, particularly at this time," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the Republican whip, pointing to the change of government in North Vietnam.

Senate Democrats have rejected such pleas, and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota planned to speak out today in support of student plans for campus war protests Oct. 15.

While Democrats and Republicans are locked in bitter debate in the Senate, the issue also is simmering in the House.

Going Ahead

Five House Republicans said today they would go ahead with plans to seek a Dec. 30, 1970, expiration date for the Gulf of Tonkin resolution that authorized military intervention in Vietnam.

Reps. Donald W. Riegle of Michigan, Pete McCloskey of California, Gilbert Gude of Maryland, Charles A. Mosher of Ohio and Daniel Burton of New York sent out a letter bidding for support from other House members. They denied their proposal undercut President Nixon's policy on Vietnam.

But Democratic Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher of New Jersey lashed out strongly at proposals to set a deadline for withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

Gallagher said in a speech prepared for House delivery today that proposed resolutions setting a deadline "might force the hand of our President—leaving him with the alternatives in the field of a Dunkerque or a Bien Phu."

He suggested that in trying to get the troops home the President might be forced to turn to "even nuclear war, just as long as he meets the resolution deadline."

Senate debate on Vietnam flared in the wake of a proposal by Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., for a Dec. 1, 1970, deadline on U.S. withdrawal. Republican leaders responded by calling for a moratorium on such proposals and dissent.

But war critics, particularly Democrats who parted company with former President Lyndon B. Johnson over Vietnam were not swayed by the GOP leaders—and this resulted in a bitter debate Wednesday.

"As a Democrat who opposed the policy of my own President when Mr. Johnson was in the White House, I certainly don't intend to lie down now that Mr. Nixon is in the White House," said Sen. Frank Church of Idaho.

Sen. John William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Nixon has made only token gestures toward disengagement in Vietnam.

Artificial Arm Made to Feel

LONDON (AP)—Scientists have produced an artificial arm which can duplicate all natural movements and has a sense of touch, the Times of London reported today. A research team attached to Edinburgh University in Scotland, led by Prof. David Simpson, took two years to develop the device. Eleven children suffering deformities from thalidomide have been taught to use simple types of the arm at the Princess Margaret Rose Hospital, the newspaper reported.

The Times said movement of the arm is controlled by tiny valves which operate on jets of air driving gas motors.

Children operate it by shrugging their shoulders.

The sense of touch comes from a small vibrating reed in the plastic finger tips. When objects are touched a sound is transmitted to a hearing aid behind the ear, the paper said.

"The noise level is quite small, but different materials produce distinctive frequencies," the time said.

"Metallic objects have a harsh, high-pitched, scratchy sound, sandpaper produces the sort of noise one might expect from rubbing fingers over the rough surface and the touch on a person's cheek has a softer and gentler sound."
